APPELLATE DIVISION LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

The Appellate Division went live on Monday, April 4, 2011, with a new website. Significant changes have been made to the appearance and content of the site in response to the Court's desire to make the Appellate Division more "user friendly."

Users may access information regarding Court terms, calendars, decisions and rules of practice. Additionally, the website includes general information about the appellate process and the history of the Court as well as information about the Court's auxiliary agencies.

New additions to the website that will prove particularly useful to practitioners include a staff directory, answers to frequently asked questions, forms and practice aids, notices and announcements regarding Court ceremonies, calendars, decisions and events, and links to other legal sites.

Presiding Justice Scudder said:

"We are pleased to make available to members of the bar and public information about our Court and our rules and procedures. Our new website, with its clean design and plain language, is easy to navigate and is an important step toward reaching our goal of making the Court more accessible to the public."

The website address (www.nycourts.gov/ad4) remains unchanged.
