

When Children Reject a Parent: Strategies for Professionals

Recommended Resources

“Legal and Psychological Management of Cases with an Alienated Child”

Sullivan, Matthew J.; Kelly, Joan B.; Family Court Review, Vol 39 No 3, July 2001 299-315

“The Alienated Child; A Reformulation of parental Alienation Syndrome”

Kelly, Joan B.; Johnston, Janet R.; Family Court Review Vol 39 No 3, July 2001 249-266

“Resistance to Visitation; rethinking parental and Child Alienation”; Stoltz, Jo-anne M.; Ney, Tara; Family Court Review Vol 40 No 2, April 2002 220-231

“Directed Co-Parenting Intervention: Conducting Child-Centered Interventions in Parallel with Highly Conflicted Co-Parents” Professional Psychology: Research and Practice Vol 35, No 1 2004 55-64

“The (De) Construction of Conflict in Divorce Litigation: A Discursive Critique of “Parental Alienation Syndrome” and “The Alienated Child” Blank, G. Kim, Ney, Tara; Family Court Review Vol 44 No 1, Jan 2006 135-148

“Rejoinder To Gardner’s “Commentary on Kelly and Johnston’s” “The Alienated Child: A Reformulation of parental Alienation Syndrome” Johnston, Janet R.; Kelly, Joan B.; Family Court review Vol 42 No 4 Oct 2004 622-628

“Postdivorce Living Arrangements, Parent Conflict, and Long Term Physical Health Correlates for Children of Divorce” Journal of Family Psychology Vol 21 No 2 2007 195-205

“Adolescent-Parent Conflict in Married and Divorced Families” Smetana, Judith G.; Yau, Jenny; Restrepo, Angela; Braeges, Judith L.; Developmental Psychology Vol 27 No 6 1991 1000-1010