To: All Interested Persons

From: John W. McConnell

Re: Public Comment Sought on Proposed Revised Model Preliminary Conference Form for Use in the Commercial Division.

The Administrative Board of the Courts is seeking public comment on an amendment, proposed by the Commercial Division Advisory Council, of the Model Preliminary Conference Form for use in the Commercial Division (Exh. A). As noted by the Council, the current form, adopted in May 2014, does not reflect numerous rule and practice changes adopted by the Administrative Board since that time. Many of the recommended revisions pertain to discovery -- including, among others, new language for document production, interrogatories, deposition of entities, e-discovery and privilege logs. The amended form would continue to be recommended, not mandatory, for use in the Commercial Division.

Persons wishing to comment on this proposal should e-mail their submissions to rulecomments@nycourts.gov or write to John W. McConnell, Esq., Counsel, Office of Court Administration, 25 Beaver Street, 11th Fl., New York, New York 10004. Comments must be received no later than March 11, 2016.

All public comments will be treated as available for disclosure under the Freedom of Information Law and are subject to publication by the Office of Court Administration. Issuance of a proposal for public comment should not be interpreted as an endorsement of that proposal by the Unified Court System or the Office of Court Administration.

MEMORANDUM

TO: COMMERCIAL DIVISION ADVISORY COUNCIL

FROM: Hon. Eileen Bransten and Roberta Kaplan, Co-Chairs of the Subcommittee on Best Practices for Judicial Case Management

RE: NEW REVISED MODEL PRELIMINARY CONFERENCE ORDER FORM

DATE: September 4, 2015

On May 2, 2014, the Administrative Board of the Courts approved the Preliminary Conference ("PC") Order form for use in the Commercial Divisions of the New York State Supreme Court starting on June 2, 2014.

Since that time, the Commercial Division Advisory Council has recommended and the Administrative Board of the Courts has adopted a substantial number of new Rules affecting practice in the Commercial Division. Many of the new Rules were created in an attempt to streamline and modernize the discovery process.

As a result, the present PC Order form has now become dated. This new Revised Model PC Order form has, as one of its goals, a mechanism to inform the Bench and the Bar of all the new Discovery Rules that should impact practice in the Commercial Division.

The Best Practices Subcommittee has prepared a proposed new Revised Model Preliminary Conference ("PC") Order Form. Once again, this Model is a tool, not mandatory but suggestive, which each judge can adopt, in whole or in part or not at all. The new Order Form has as its salient features:

- A new section for Pre-Answer Motion Practice;
- A more streamlined section for the Description of the Case;

- A completely revamped section on Discovery including:
  - (1) A new section incorporating the new Preamble to the Commercial Division Rules, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g), particularly the admonition to “encourage proportionality in discovery. . .”
  - (2) New language for Document Production pursuant to Rule 11-e(a), 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(11-e)(a);
  - (3) New language concerning Interrogatories, Rule 11-a, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(11-a);
  - (4) A new section concerning Deposition of Individuals including the limitation, without prior court approval, as to the number of depositions and the length of time for each deposition, Rule 11-d, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(11-d);
  - (5) Another section concerns Deposition of Entities. This new Rule, which is awaiting final approval of the Board of Judges, outlines a creative mechanism to streamline the gathering of discovery information from all forms of business entities. The proposed new Rule is outlined in detail in order to provide both the Bench and the Bar with the tools necessary to secure information from these entities;
  - (6) The new Revised Model PC Order form also includes information on how to address Disclosure Disputes pursuant to Rule 14, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(14);
  - (8) The section on Electronic Discovery and Privilege Logs has been completely reworked to condense the previous section pursuant to Rule 8(b), 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(8)(b), and to incorporate the Categorical or Document-by-Document approach to Privilege Logs pursuant to Rule 11-b, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(11-b);
  - (9) The section on Expert Discovery has been tweaked to remind the parties that there are rules that must be followed in a timely fashion, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(13)(c);

- The Section on Alternative Dispute Resolution has been reworked to focus the parties on the methods to be used and timing of the use of Alternative Dispute Resolution.
- Finally, there is a new section concerning Additional Directives emphasizing the need to inform the court of disposition of cases and the absolute need to sign up for the FREE etrack notification system in the Court system.

It is understood that creating a new Revised Model PC Order form soon after the first, and now dated, PC Order form may be somewhat disconcerting. It reflects, however, the amount of substantive work the Commercial Division Advisory Council has undertaken over the past two years. The revisions, approved by the Administrative Board of the Courts, made to the Commercial Division Rules have been highly substantive: they have changed the culture of practice in the Commercial Divisions and, it is hoped, provide a new framework to reduce the costly burden of discovery for the practitioners and litigants in the Commercial Division.

The Best Practices Subcommittee respectfully requests that the new Revised Model Preliminary Conference Order form, attached hereto, be considered for adoption.

(5) DEPOSITION OF ENTITIES:

A new rule has been proposed (awaiting final action by the Board of Judges) concerning the deposition of entities such as a corporation, business trust, estate, trust, partnership, limited liability company, association, joint venture, public corporation, government, or government subdivision, agency or instrumentality, or any other legal or commercial entity.

The new Rule is intended to promote a more efficient process for deposition of entity representatives and reduce the likelihood of a mismatch between the information sought and the witness produced. The proposed Rule and the memorandum in support can be found at: www.nycourts.gov/rules/comments/index.shtml April 7, 2015 Proposed adoption of new Commercial Division Rule and amendment to Commercial Rule 11-d, relating to depositions of entity representatives.

The essential elements of the new Rule are (emphasis added):

- (i) A party wishing to take a deposition of an entity will serve a notice or subpoena enumerating those matters to be the subject of the deposition "with reasonable particularity."
- (ii) If the notice or subpoena does not name a particular officer, director, member or employee of the entity, the named entity must designate one or more officers, directors, members or employees or other individual(s) who consent to testify on its behalf; the identity, description and title of that individual; and the matter(s) on which that individual will testify.
- (iii) If the notice or subpoena does name a particular officer, director, member or employee of the entity, the entity, pursuant to CPLR 3106(d), shall produce that individual, unless, no later than ten days before the deposition, the entity designates another individual who consents to testify on its behalf, in the place of the named or subpoenaed officer, director, member or employee of the entity; and shall provide the identification, description or title of the new individual, and the matter(s) on which the individual will testify.

- (iv) Deposition testimony given pursuant to this Rule shall be usable against the entity on whose behalf the testimony is given to the same extent provided in CPLR 3117(2).
- (v) The deposition of an entity shall be treated as a single deposition even though more than one person may be designated to testify on the entity's behalf. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the cumulative presumptive durational limit is in effect but may be enlarged by agreement of the parties or upon application for leave of Court, which shall be freely given.

Names of entities to be deposed:

- (ii) For Plaintiff: _____
- (iii) For Defendant(s): _____
- (iv) For Defendant(s): _____

(6) DISCLOSURE DISPUTES

Pursuant to Rule 14, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(14), discovery disputes will be resolved in the following manner:

1. If the Part Rules outline a mechanism to resolve discovery disputes, the Part Rules must be followed; or, if there are no Part Rules:
2. Follow the mechanism laid out in Rule 14, namely a party with a disclosure dispute shall write a letter to the Part, maximum 3-page single spaced in length, outlining the issue(s); the other side(s) may submit response letter(s) of equal length. The Part will then schedule a conference to, hopefully, resolve the dispute.

(7) IMPLADER:

Defendant shall serve his Third-Party summons and complaint no later than 20 days after the end of the last deposition of a named Plaintiff and Defendant(s) and/or the last deposition of a representative of a named party.

(8) ELECTRONIC DISCOVERY AND PRIVILEGE LOGS

Discovery of Electronically Stored Information (ESI) is one of the most expensive and challenging discovery categories. The new Commercial Division Rules, as it concerns electronic discovery, 22 NYCRR 202.12(b) and (c)(3), as well as the related privilege logs, attempt to rein in the cost and complexity of electronic discovery and related privilege logs. In assessing whether the matter before the Court will benefit from electronic discovery, the parties should consider: (i) is there potentially relevant ESI material in the case; (ii) do the parties intend to rely on ESI; (iii) are there less costly or less burdensome alternatives to secure the necessary information without recourse to discovery of the ESI; (iv) is the cost of preserving and producing ESI proportionate to the amount in controversy; and (v) what is the likelihood that discovery of ESI will aid in the resolution of the dispute.

A. ELECTRONIC DISCOVERY

(a) Will there be Electronic Discovery in the case:

___ YES                      ___ NO                      ___ NOT SURE

(b) Meet and Confer: Pursuant to Uniform Commercial Division Rule 8(b), 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(8)(b), counsel MUST certify that they have met and conferred regarding electronic discovery, before the Preliminary Conference

(e) Discovery of Electronically Stored Information from Non-Parties:

Parties and non-parties should adhere to the Commercial Division's Guidelines for Discovery of Electronically Stored Information (ESI) from non-parties which can be found in Appendix A to the Rules of the Commercial Division.

B. PRIVILEGE LOGS

One of the most time-consuming and costly aspects of discovery in complex commercial litigation cases is the creation and maintenance of privilege logs. At present, privilege logs are governed by CPLR 3122(b) which mandates "that a party who intends to withhold documents because of privilege (must) prepare a 'privilege log' which (i) contains a separate entry for each document being withheld; (ii) provides 'pedigree' information for each such document and (iii) sets forth the specific privileges and immunities that insulate that document from production. (Memorandum concerning Privilege Log Practices in the Commercial Division at p.1)

THE CATEGORICAL or DOCUMENT-BY-DOCUMENT APPROACH

- (a) Rule 11-b, 22 NYCRR 202.70(g)(11-b), mandates that the parties meet and confer at the outset of the case and from time to time thereafter to discuss:
- the scope of the privilege review;
  - the amount of information to be set out in the privilege log;
  - the use of categories to reduce document-by-document logging;
  - whether categories of information can be excluded from the logging requirements;
  - any other issues pertinent to privilege review. (Rule 11-b(a))
- (b) (1) The new rule clearly states that the preference in the Commercial Division is for the parties to use categorical designations where appropriate to reduce the time and costs

Plaintiff _____
v. Defendant _____

associated with preparing privilege logs. . . . (An example of such a categorical designation is the designation that all communications between the client and the client's attorney AFTER the commencement of the action would be designated as exempt pursuant to the attorney-client privilege.) . . . The parties are encouraged to utilize a reasoned method of organizing the documents . . .

There are specific rules that must be followed to ensure that the documents contained in a categorical designation were properly placed in that category.

- (2) In the event the requesting party refuses to permit a categorical approach, and instead insists on a document-by-document listing on the privilege log then . . . the requirements of CPLR 3122 must be followed. In that circumstance, however, the producing party, upon showing of good cause, may apply to the court for an allocation of costs, including attorneys' fees, incurred with respect to preparing a document-by-document privilege log . . . .
- (3) Even if a party insists on a document-by-document privilege log as contemplated by CPLR 3122 . . . each uninterrupted e-mail chain shall constitute a single entry, and the description accompanying the entry shall include the following: (i) an indication that the e-mail chain represents an uninterrupted dialogue; (ii) the beginning and ending dates and times (as noted in the e-mails) of the dialogue; (iii) the number of e-mails in the dialogue; and (iv) the names of all the authors and recipients, together with sufficient identifying information about each person (e.g. name of the employer, job title, person's role in the case) to allow for a considered assessment of the privilege issue.

While there are other important section of the new Privilege Log Rule that will have to be considered and followed, these sections need not be repeated here.
