Calendar Year 2005 - Executive Summary

This report profiles the work and accomplishments of the Criminal Court of the City of New York over the past year. The report is divided into three sections; the first part is an introduction and summary of the organizational structure of the Court, the second part describes court operations - arraignments, all-purpose parts, trial parts and community courts and other specialized courtrooms, along with a description of the Court's back office - the last section takes a look back at Court news over the past year and some exciting new projects coming in 2006. This report explains how each part of the court operation functions and then provides a quantitative analysis of the work in an effort to give the reader a snapshot of the volume and outcomes of cases over the past year.

The previous year brought some significant changes to the structure of the criminal justice system in New York City. As part of a pilot project, starting in November, 2004, the Bronx Criminal Division assumed administrative responsibility over many aspects of Criminal Court operations in the Bronx. For the most part we do not address statistical information relating to Bronx Criminal Court operations. There are exceptions, however. We do report on summons, some arraignment statistics and revenue numbers in the Bronx as part of the entire Criminal Court picture. We have also clearly marked any table or graph that contains Bronx statistics. (For further explanation of Bronx Criminal Court operations, please turn to page 25).

Here are some 2005 Criminal Court milestones :

- 250,522 online/DAT cases arraigned;
- 648,638* summons filings;
- 251,684 arrest/DAT dispositions;
- 500,769 cases calendared in all purpose parts;
- 106,306 cases calendared in felony waiver parts;
- 26,195 dispositions in Criminal Court felony waiver parts compared to 19,987 dispositions combined in the corresponding four Supreme Courts, Criminal Term;
- 900 pre-trial hearings commenced;
- 2,162 trial verdicts (combined online/DAT and summons);
- $32,194,622* in revenue;
- over $4,500,000* in grant awards (2000-2005);
- $117,234,596* operating budget; and
- 24.17 hour average arrest-to-arraignment time.

In addition to the analysis of work done by the entire Criminal Court, this report also includes a description of new initiatives and improved services implemented during the past year and the Court's response to new laws and legislation and executive branch initiatives, such as Operation Spotlight.

Introduction – Administrative Judge Juanita Bing Newton

Greetings from the New York City Criminal Court. Three years into my tenure as Administrative Judge, Criminal Court's judges and staff remain as hardworking and innovative as ever. They have to be in order to keep up with the ever-increasing caseload with the dwindling amount of resources available to them. It is only fitting, then, that in this year's Annual Report, we feature photographs of judges and staff from all over the city. We have almost 1,400 judges and non-judicial personnel working in eight facilities throughout the city. Some, like our judges, are visible and known to the public, but there are hundreds of people that work behind the scenes to make this vast court system work and one of the best in the state - and, for that matter, the country. This report profiles the incredible work that all 1,400 have done to bring justice to the citizens of this city.

course, our wonderful judges and staff have risen to the occasion. Last year Criminal Court dispensed justice on over 800,000 cases - an incredible achievement!

2005 was the first full year for our citywide Plea By Mail initiative for certain summons cases and the amount of people choosing to quickly and efficiently dispose of their cases (and without ever stepping into a courthouse) rose to almost 10,000. We have increased the efficacy of, and our commitment to, our Manhattan Domestic Violence Court complex by assigning a full time resource coordinator to help our DV judges expand their sentencing options and monitor defendants. We have expanded our court attorney pool to bring us closer to our goals of a 1:1 ratio between judges and court attorneys. Midtown Community Court started its pilot projects to retain prostitution cases for trial and expand its jurisdiction over certain trademark counterfeiting and unlicensed vendor cases.

With "quality of life" summons and online misdemeanor filings continuing to rise to record heights and the number of judges actually sitting in Criminal Court continuing to drop to record lows, we have been asked to do more with less. And, of

When you read about all that our staff does, you cannot help but be impressed with the incredible work that goes on in the Criminal Court!

Criminal Court Caseload – A 10 Year Overview

From the recent peak online/DAT arrest filing years of the late nineties and 2000, the last five years have seen a relatively stable amount of arraignments in the Criminal Court. Total filings in 2005 were 18% lower than the total in 2000, but only 7% lower than those ten years earlier in 1995.

The big picture, however, shows law enforcement's continued focus on "quality of life" crimes. In 1995, 27% of all online/DAT arraignments were felonies, in 2005 that percentage has dropped to 6%. Add to that mixture the huge increase in summons filings that Criminal Court has seen in the past 10 years and you can truly get a picture of the police focus on these types of offenses. From 1995 to 2005, the Court has seen a 115% rise in the number of summons filings.

The combined total of online/DAT docketed misdemeanor and summons filings in 2005 was 814,361 cases compared to 489,885 in 1995. Felony filings in this 10 year period have decreased from 72,847 cases in 1995 to 43,456 in 2005. It is important to note that Criminal Court has retained trial jurisdiction over an ever increasing amount of cases, having serious implications to its ability to quickly, efficiently process cases and, more importantly, offer individualized justice to every litigant.

Organizational Structure of NYC Criminal Court

By statute, Criminal Court has 107 authorized judgeships. Each Criminal Court judge must be a resident of New York City. The judges are appointed for terms of ten years by the Mayor of the City of New York. Any vacancies which occur prior to the expiration of a term also are filled through appointment by the Mayor.

Many of the 107 judges appointed to the Criminal Court have been assigned to the Criminal Term of the Supreme Court in order to handle felony cases. To assist in processing Criminal Court cases, court administrators have assigned to the Criminal Court, New York City Civil Court Judges and, on occasion, a Judge of the New York City Family Court. All judges presiding over a Criminal Court Part on December 30, 2005 are listed on page 8.

The Court is headed by a citywide Administrative Judge who is responsible for the overall operation of the Court. Administrative Judge Juanita Bing Newton is assisted in 2005 in this task by three supervising judges, one for Manhattan - Hon. Martin P. Murphy, one for Queens - Hon. Deborah Stevens Modica and a third who supervises our courts in Kings and Richmond counties - Hon. William Miller.

Under the direction of the Administrative Judge, the Chief Clerk of the court oversees the Court's staff of non-judicial personnel. Chief Clerk William H. Etheridge III is assisted in this task by the First Deputy Chief Clerk for citywide operations, Vincent Modica. In addition, the Chief Clerk is supported by four Borough Chief Clerks who, along with the supervising judges, oversee the day-to-day operations in each county - Serena Springle (New York), John Hayes (Kings), Brian Wynne (Queens) and Andrew Hassell (Richmond). The citywide summons operation is supervised by Senior Court Clerk Robert Cassidy and Donald Vasti and Sandra Martin Smith oversee the operations of Midtown Community Court and Red Hook Criminal Justice Center, respectively.

Central Administration staff also include Major Walter Glowacz (court officers); Ada Molina (personnel); Alice Hegarty (technology); Patrick Iannotto (supply and records); Jacqueline Dupree (data entry); Fernando Smith (interpreters); and Marilyn Vializ (court reporters).

The Administrative Judge's staff include Beverly Russell (Counsel); Michael Yavinsky (Chief Court Attorney); Justin Barry (Drug Courts); and Lisa Lindsay (DV Courts).

New Initiatives and Improved Service in 2005

Over the past year, Criminal Court continued to bring “Quality Service” and a more consumer-oriented approach to the court system, piloting several exciting projects that make interactions with the Criminal Court more convenient for the consumer and more efficient for its employees.

Plea By Mail - Citywide Expansion

This was the first full year for our Plea By Mail initiative for individuals receiving a Criminal Court summons for the NYC Administrative Code violation of “Consumption of Alcohol on Streets Prohibited” (also known as “Open Container Violation” or “Consumption of Alcohol in Public”) and the year the program was expanded throughout the city. Almost 10,000 people chose to quickly and efficiently dispose of their cases (and without ever stepping into a courthouse) by pleading guilty and paying a $25 fine by mail.

Comprehensive Screening

Comprehensive Screening of all defendants arrested in Brooklyn for eligibility in court-monitored treatment began in January 2003. In 2005, Criminal Court lent its expertise to help initiate this program in the Bronx and Queens county will begin its screening program in 2006.

Manhattan Domestic Violence Court - Resource Coordinator

The Manhattan Domestic Violence Court Complex expanded its sentencing options and defendant monitoring capabilities for its two judges and one judicial hearing officer with the hiring of a resource coordinator. The resource coordinator is responsible for carrying out the alternative-to-incarceration directives of each of the domestic violence courts and ongoing monitoring of defendants participating in these programs.

Employee of the Year Awards

The Court recognized its first eight Employees of the Year in 2005 in an effort to acknowledge some of the Court’s hardworking and, many times, unsung heroes.

Red Hook Pro Se Attorney

In order to assist litigants appearing without benefit of an attorney on civil matters heard at the Red Hook Community Justice Center, Criminal Court has started working with the Unified Court System’s Office of the Deputy Chief Administrative Judge for Justice Initiatives to staff the courthouse with an attorney to assist self-represented litigants. The planning started in 2005 and the project is expected to become operational in 2006.

Expanded Court Attorney Pool

2005 brought about an unprecedented expansion in the Court’s pool of court attorneys. Attorneys in the Law Department pool had previously handled assignments from two or, even, three judges simultaneously. With this new expansion, Criminal Court has gotten closer to its goal of having one court attorney for every judge presiding in the Criminal Court.

Midtown Caseload and Trial Expansion

With the concentration of counterfeit goods and illegal sidewalk sales arrests in Midtown Manhattan, Midtown Community Court has started arraigning all defendants throughout Manhattan charged with unlicensed general vendor violations and will start arraigning all trademark counterfeiting arrests in 2006. Midtown also started retaining prostitution cases for all purposes including trial. These two initiatives seek to handle these offenses in the location with the highest concentration of these arrests and bring a level of consistency to their prosecution and disposition.

Court Paper Scanning Project

In 2005 Criminal Court started the planning process to use technology to reduce the huge amount of expense and labor necessary to archive and retrieve finished court files. Within the next year, Court staff plan to make digital copies of finished court files allowing the Court to retain a digital file and destroy the actual copy of the court papers. This new project will save the court the countless hours and hundreds of thousands of dollars that it currently spends archiving these papers.

New Laws and Legislation

There were quite a few pieces of legislation passed in 2005 that impacted New York City Criminal Court. When these laws are enacted, all relevant judicial and non-judicial staff are notified of the changes by the Office of the Chief Court Attorney. The following pages show the most significant notifications made in 2005.

A. Changes Affecting the Penal Law

1. L 2005, ch 765 - Known as "The Crimes Against Police Act." Amending Penal Law §§ 70.00, 70.02, 120.13, 10.00, and 60.06; Adding Penal Law §§ 120.18, 125.11, 125.21, 125.22, and 125.26; Amending Criminal Procedure Law § 700.05

This legislation enacts the following new offenses for those who threaten, injure or kill police officers. [Please note - While these offenses are labeled as particular violent felonies (e.g. A felony, B felony), this legislation creates separate sentencing ranges that are unique to each offense.]

- a. PL § 120.18 (Menacing of a Police Officer or Peace Officer) - Class D violent felony offense punishable by a determinate sentence of two years and not exceeding eight years.
- b. PL § 125.11 (Aggravated Criminally Negligent Homicide) - Class C violent felony punishable by a determinate sentence of at least three and one-half years and not exceeding 20 years.
- c. PL § 125.21 (Aggravated Manslaughter in the Second Degree) - Class C violent felony punishable by a determinate sentence of at least at least seven years and not exceeding 20 years.
- d. PL § 125.22 (Aggravated Manslaughter in the First Degree) - Class B violent felony punishable by a determinate sentence of at least 10 years and not exceeding 30 years.
- e. PL § 125.26 (Aggravated Murder) - Class A-I felony punishable by a sentence of life imprisonment without parole.

This law also amends PL § 70.02 to impose a separate sentencing range of at least 10 years and not exceeding 30 years for Aggravated Assault Upon a Police Officer or a Peace Officer (PL § 120.11), a class B violent felony. Further, PL § 70.02 is amended to impose a separate sentencing range of at least three and one-half years and not exceeding 20 years for Attempted Aggravated Assault upon a Police Officer or Peace Officer (PL § 110/120.11), a class C felony. Also, this legislation amends PL § 70.00(3) to increase the minimum sentence range for a violation of certain subdivisions of PL § 110/125.27 [Attempted Murder in the First Degree] and to establish the minimum sentence range for a violation of PL § 110/125.26 [Attempted Aggravated Murder].

Court Attorney Karen Gopee

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, "this [law will] ensure that the most dangerous type of criminals - those who are so bold as to attack, injure or kill a police officer or peace officer - are punished commensurate with their crimes."

Effective Date: December 21, 2005

New Laws and Legislation

2. L 2005, ch 764 - Amending Penal Law §§ 70.02, 265.02, 265.03, 265.04, 265.11, 265.12, and 265.13 [Relating to the possession and sale of firearms]

This law amends PL § 70.02 to add PL § 265.11, Criminal Sale of a Firearm in the Third Degree as a class D violent felony and to establish a particular sentence provision for this offense. Further, this legislation reduces the number of firearms required to be possessed to constitute violations of certain subdivisions of PL §§ 265.02, 265.12, and 265.13, as well as adding new subdivisions prohibiting firearms possession under PL §§ 265.03 and 265.04 and firearms sale under PL §§ 265.12 and 265.13. [Gender neutral references were also inserted into the language of various sections of Article 265 of the Penal Law, and the term “dangerous” was removed from the title of PL § 265.04.]

According to the Sponsor of this legislation, prior to this law, certain individuals selling illegal weapons would intentionally restrict the number of firearms sold in a single transaction in order to avoid stricter penalties. This legislation is intended to eliminate this loophole.

Effective Date: December 21, 2005

3. L 2005, ch 644 - Amending the 2004 Drug Reform Act to Expand the Opportunity for Certain Penal Law Article 220 Offenders to Earn Merit Time

This law amends the 2004 Drug Reform Act to expand the opportunity for inmates convicted of Article 220 offenses, other than A-I offenses, to earn merit time, as provided for under Correction Law § 803. Pursuant to this amendment, inmates can earn merit time not only through a work release program but also through successful employment, for a minimum of three months, in any other continuous temporary release program. According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, the amendment adds Corcraft to the list of available programs.

Effective Date: August 30, 2005 [While effective immediately upon its passage, this law is deemed to have been in full force and effect on or after

December 27, 2004.]

4. L 2005, ch 643 - Extending the Opportunity for Resentencing to Certain Class A-II Controlled Substance Offenders

This law grants certain class A-II controlled substance offenders the opportunity to petition the sentencing court for resentencing under the 2004 Drug Reform Act. In order to be eligible for resentencing, the offender must, at the time of the petition, be more than 12 months from being eligible for the temporary release program established under Correction Law § 851(2) and be eligible under Correction Law § 803(1)(d) to earn merit time credit against his sentence.

Effective Date: October 29, 2005

5. L 2005, ch 544 - Amending Penal Law § 65.10 [Conditions of Probation and of Conditional Discharge], Executive Law § 259-c [State Board of Parole; Functions, Powers and Duties], Correction Law § 272 [Local Conditional Release Commission; Function, Powers and Duties]

This law amends Penal Law § 65.10(4-a), Executive Law § 259-c(14), and Correction Law § 272(9) to require, as a condition of parole or conditional release, that a person designated as a Level III sex offender be prohibited from knowingly entering upon any school grounds or other facility used primarily for the care of persons under the age of 18 when one or more persons under that age is present.

According to the Sponsor in support of this law, “[t]here is a need to prohibit those sex offenders who are determined to pose the most risk to children from entering upon school grounds or other areas where children are cared for.”

Effective Date: September 1, 2005

6. L 2005, ch 499 - Amending Penal Law § 60.27 [Restitution and Reparation]

This law amends Penal Law § 60.27(5)(a) to add a specific provision regarding restitution and reparation where a school district official is convicted of violating Penal Law Article 155 and where the victim of the crime is the officer’s school district. Pursuant to this law, the maximum amounts of restitution or reparation allowable for felonies and other offenses, as provided for in PL § 60.27(5)(a), do not apply under these circumstances. Instead, the court may require an amount of restitution up to the full amount of the fruits of the offense or reparation up to the full amount of the actual out-of-pocket loss suffered by the victim, provided that in such a case the provisions of paragraph (b) of PL § 60.27(5) do not apply.

Effective Date: August 16, 2005

7. L 2005, ch 450 - Creating Penal Law § 230.33 [Compelling Prostitution]

This law creates the crime of Compelling Prostitution (PL § 230.33) and designates it a class B felony. Under PL § 230.33, “[a] person is guilty of compelling prostitution when, being twenty-one years of age or older, he or she knowingly advances prostitution by compelling a person less than sixteen years old, by force or intimidation, to engage in prostitution.”

This law also amends PL § 230.35 [now entitled “Promoting or Compelling Prostitution; Accomplice”] to account for the creation of the new crime. Penal Law § 230.35 now provides that, “[i]n a prosecution for promoting prostitution or compelling prostitution, a person under the age of seventeen from whose prostitution activity another person allegedly advanced or attempted to advance or profited or attempted to profit shall not be deemed to be an accomplice.”

According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, this new crime was created to combat the increasing problem of child prostitution.

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

8. L 2005, ch 394 - Amending Various Laws Related to the Regulation of Methamphetamine Production

This legislation enacts a number of changes in order to regulate methamphetamine production, the most relevant of which include:

- a. Creating PL § 155.30(11), which classifies theft of anhydrous ammonia, an ingredient in methamphetamines, as Grand Larceny in the Fourth Degree.
- b. Creating PL § 165.45(7), which punishes possession of stolen anhydrous ammonia.

c. Amending a number of sections under Article 220 of the Penal Law to create new crimes involving methamphetamines.

d. Amending PL § 70.25(2)(g) to allow for the imposition of concurrent sentences for conviction of certain new crimes.

e. Adding newly created methamphetamine laboratory crimes to CPL § 700.05 (the eavesdropping statute).

According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, [i]n the past 5 years, police agencies have seen evidence of a dramatic rise in the number of clandestine laboratories operating in New York State. These illegal methamphetamines are often produced using controlled substance precursors which are not currently illegal to possess This proposal will specifically target clandestine laboratories which produce illegal drugs . . . [and will make] possession of the ingredients used to illegally manufacture controlled substances with the intent to manufacture such substances a crime.

Effective Date: October 1, 2005

9. L 2005, ch 331 - Amending Penal Law § 400.00(4) [Licenses to Carry, Possess, Repair and Dispose of Firearms]

This legislation amends Penal Law § 400.00(4) to allow corporate officers of firearm dealerships, who have already been issued a “dealer in firearms license” and who are seeking to open a second or subsequent firearm dealership, to rely upon the first set of fingerprints taken of them in connection with the application for their initial dealer in firearms license. However, where any of the corporate officers have changed since the prior application, the new corporate officer(s) must submit their fingerprints in the same manner they would if initially applying for the license.

Under the former law, applicants who had previously opened stores in New York were required to travel to New York to be fingerprinted each time they sought to open another store within the state, notwithstanding the fact that their fingerprints were already on file with the New York State Department of Criminal Justice Services. According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, the purpose of the amendment is to avoid the expense and inconvenience associated with returning to New York for fingerprinting and thus, eliminate the disincentive to creating jobs in New York.

Effective Date: July 26, 2005

10. L 2005, ch 294 - Amending Penal Law § 240.06 [Riot in the First Degree]

This legislation amends Penal Law § 240.06 to allow for prosecution of anyone who incites a riot while in a correctional facility regardless of whether the riot caused public alarm in the community outside of the facility. The new provision only requires a showing that the riotous conduct caused alarm within the facility.

Pursuant to the Sponsor's Memo regarding this law, the need for this law "became apparent in 1998 at Mohawk Correctional Facility when inmates who participated in a riot could not be charged with a felony for the act of rioting." Thus, this law was created to serve as a "deterrent to those who would otherwise participate in a prison riot."

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

11. L 2005, ch 57 - Creating Penal Law § 165.16 [Unauthorized Sale of Certain Transportation Services]

This law adds Penal Law § 165.16, a class B misdemeanor. Under PL § 165.16, it is unlawful for a person who, with intent to avoid payment by another person to the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, New York City Transit or a subsidiary or affiliate of either, sells or exchanges for value access to transportation services provided by any of these entities, without authorization, through the use of an unlimited farecard or a doctored farecard. [It is a defense to prosecution under this section that the defendant sold an undoctored farecard and relinquished all rights and privileges to the card upon the sale, or that he sold access to transportation services through the use of an undoctored farecard at the request of the purchaser at a time when a farecard was not otherwise immediately available to the purchaser, provided that the defendant lawfully acquired the farecard and did not, by means of an unlawful act, contribute to the circumstances that brought about the request.]

Importantly, PL § 165.16 only applies to sales that occur in a transportation facility operated by one of the abovementioned transportation providers when public notice of the prohibitions of this section and the corresponding exemptions appears on the face of the farecard or is conspicuously posted in the transportation facility.

12. L 2005, ch 39 - Known as "Vasean's Law." Amending Penal Law §§ 120.03, 120.04, 125.12, and 125.13

This law amends the sections of the Penal Law pertaining to the crimes of Vehicular Assault in the First and Second Degrees (PL §§ 120.04, 120.03, respectively) and Vehicular Manslaughter in the First and Second Degrees (PL §§ 125.13, 125.12, respectively) to remove criminal negligence as a required element of these crimes. Further, this law establishes a rebuttable presumption that, where a driver causes serious physical injury or death, such injury or death was caused by the driver's intoxication or impairment from use of a drug.

According to the Sponsor of this law, the abovementioned amendments are necessary because the previous "criminal law provisions are an inadequate deterrent to drunk drivers, [thereby creating] an enhanced risk of serious injury to, or the death of, innocent victims."

Effective Date: June 8, 2005 [The original effective date of this law (November 1, 2005) was superseded by passage of L 2005, ch 92, which designated that the law be in effect immediately.]

B. Changes Affecting the Vehicle and Traffic Law

1. L 2005, ch 624 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 375(1)(b) [Equipment]

This law amends subdivision (1)(b) of VTL § 375 to replace the prohibition against putting posters, stickers, handbills or any other form of advertisement on a "windshield or windshield wipers" with a general prohibition against attaching any of these materials to a motor vehicle.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, this amendment will eliminate the unintended loophole created by the former law which allowed individuals to affix handbills to parts of motor vehicles other than the windshield or windshield wipers. As a result, this law "will enhance the City's littering enforcement efforts and its continuing commitment to increase street cleanliness levels."

Effective Date: November 28, 2005

2. L 2005, ch 608 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 375(37) [Equipment]

This law amends VTL § 375 (37) to require that "motor vehicles engaged in retail sales of frozen desserts directly to consumers . . . include . . . front crossing arms to be activated only when such vehicle is stopped and its occupants are engaged in such retail sales." [Failure to comply with this requirement appears to constitute a traffic infraction.]

Pursuant to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this legislation, young children have been killed in recent years when attempting to cross the street after buying food from frozen dessert trucks. Accordingly, this law will "ensure that minors [will] not be able to venture into the roadway unless they [are] a safe distance in front of the frozen dessert truck, thereby enabling oncoming motorists to see the child with enough time to react and increasing the chances that future disasters of this nature will be averted."

Effective Date: February 26, 2006

3. L 2005, ch 601 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 2403 [Operation of ATVs; Where Permitted]

This law amends VTL § 2403 to add a new subdivision, designated 3-a, which prohibits the operation of an all terrain vehicle (ATV) "upon the real property of a farm operation . . . without the consent of the owner or lessee thereof, where such owner or lessee has erected or maintained any sign, structure, display, or device prohibiting the trespass thereon, and which shall include a sign stating: "No Trespassing." The law further provides that violation of this subdivision constitutes a traffic infraction, and that a person who commits one or more similar infraction within an 18 month period shall receive an increased punishment.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, the improper use of ATVs on farmlands can lead to economic damages for farm operators due to soil erosion and crop damage. The inappropriate use of ATVs also poses physical dangers to ATV operators as well as increases farm operators' exposure to liability for injuries sustained by ATV operators. In addition, the Sponsor supported the increase in penalties for violation of section 2403 because, under the former law, defendants rarely received the maximum fine and often were released with only a warning not to commit the violation again.

[Agriculture and Markets Law § 301 also was amended (L 2005, ch 573 - effective August 23, 2005) to expand the definition of a "farm operation" to include timber processing.]

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

4. L 2005, ch 554 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law §§ 2404(1)(e) and 2404(3) [Operating Rules-All Terrain Vehicles]

This law amends VTL §§ 2404(1)(e) and 2404(3) to add an "inflatable device" to the list of devices that, while occupied by a passenger, are prohibited from being towed by an ATV, unless attached by a rigid support, connection or towbar. Section 2404 (1)(e) prohibits a person from operating an ATV in this manner, and section 2404(3) prohibits a person from riding an inflatable device in this way.

According to the Sponsor's Memo on this law, using an ATV to pull a person on an inflatable device poses as much of a danger as using an ATV to pull a person on a sleigh, sled, toboggan, or trailer. In support, the Sponsor noted that children have died as a result of this activity.

Effective Date: August 23, 2005

5. L 2005, ch 395 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 381 [Motorcycle Equipment]

This law amends Vehicle and Traffic Law § 381 to raise the height to which motorcyclists are permitted to position their handle bars or grips. Under the former law, the legal height limit was 15 inches higher than the operator's seat. This new legislation raises that limit to the height of the operator's shoulders.

Noting that the prior law was unpopular among motorcyclists and was not properly enforced, the Sponsor of this law stated that this law "is more applicable in modern motorcycles and enforcement of the law," and does not create any safety hazards.

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

6. L 2005, ch 223 - Known as the "Work Zone Safety Act of 2005." Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 510(2)(b); Adding Vehicle and Traffic Law §§ 1809-d and 224-a

This law amends VTL § 510(2)(b) to add subparagraph (xiii) establishing that an individual's license be suspended for 60 days when he is convicted of two or more speeding violations in a posted highway construction or highway maintenance work area. Further, this legislation adds VTL § 1809-d, which provides for a mandatory surcharge of $50 for violation of maximum speed limits in highway construction or maintenance work areas, in addition to any other sentence, fine or penalty.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, most accidents in highway work zones are due to speeding and driver inattentiveness. Thus, this law "seeks to make highway safety a priority by educating the public . . . [and] . . . increasing penalties for speed related violations within these work zones."

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

7. L 2005, ch 109 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 402(1) [Distinctive Number; Form of Number Plates, Trailers]

This law amends Vehicle and Traffic Law § 402(1) to prohibit a person from knowingly covering or coating a license number plate with any artificial or synthetic material or substance that conceals or obscures the plate or distorts a recorded or photographic image of the plate. [Violation of this section constitutes a traffic infraction. VTL § 402(7).]

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, sprays to blind observation equipment are increasingly popular and easily accessible. In New York City specifically, "about 31% of the vehicles running red lights cannot be identified due to their license plates being obscured." By banning the use of these materials, this legislation will help to increase public safety against reckless drivers as well as possible terrorist threats.

Effective Date: October 19, 2005

8. L 2005, ch 49 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 600 [Leaving Scene of an Accident Without Reporting]

This law amends VTL § 600 to increase the penalties for leaving the scene of an accident without reporting. A first violation of this statute resulting in personal injury is now designated a class A misdemeanor and any such subsequent violation is deemed a class E felony. Further, a violation resulting in serious physical injury is a class E felony, and a violation resulting in death is a class D felony.

In support, the Sponsor of this law noted that violation of this statute "is a grave crime" because "[d]uring the time . . . an accident goes unreported, injured people at the accident could become more seriously injured or die."

Effective Date: June 17, 2005 [The original effective date of this law, November 1, 2005, was superseded by passage of L 2005, ch 108, which designated that the law be in effect immediately.

9.(a) L 2005, ch 18 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 1229-c [Operation of Vehicles with Safety Seats and Safety Belts]

This legislation amends VTL § 1229-c to clarify that child restraint systems, also known as child booster seats, should be used only with combination lap and shoulder harness belts and not with only a lap safety belt. However, the law also provides that, where a vehicle is not equipped with these combination belts or where all combination belts are being used to properly restrain other passengers under the age of 16, child booster seats may be restrained by a lap safety belt.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, lap-only belts should not be with booster seats because they place a child at risk of serious abdominal, spinal and other injuries.

Effective Date: April 19, 2005

(b) L 2005, ch 598 - Amending Vehicle and Traffic Law § 1229-c(5) [Operation of Vehicles with Safety Seats and Safety Belts]

This law amends VTL § 1229-c(5) by creating a second affirmative defense to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without “an appropriate child restraint system.” In addition to the affirmative defense that the child is over four feet nine inches in height, it is also an affirmative defense that the child weighs more than 100 pounds, provided that, to succeed on either defense, the child was restrained by a safety belt.

According to the Sponsor’s Memo for this law, most child safety booster seats are designed for children weighing up to 80 pounds, while some can accommodate children weighing up to 100 pounds. Thus, the Sponsor contended that “it is important that in the event the child has grown larger than the weight limit for which these safety devices are intended to accommodate, the option be available for the parent to utilize the vehicle’s safety belt for the child.”

Effective Date: August 30, 2005

C. Changes Affecting Registered Sex Offenders

1. L 2005, ch 684 - Amending Correction Law §§ 168-d, 168-k, 168-n to Authorize Hearings in Absentia for Sex Offenders

This law amends Correction Law §§ 168-d, 168-k and 168-n to permit determination hearings in absentia for sex offenders. Under this law, the court is authorized to determine, in the sex offender’s absence, the offender’s level of notification and whether he shall be designated a sexual predator, a sexually violent offender or a predicate sex offender. The determination hearing, however, may only be held without the offender when he has been notified, at least 45 days in advance, of the time and place of the hearing and that the hearing will be conducted in his absence if he fails to appear without sufficient excuse.

While many courts already recognize that an offender who voluntarily fails to appear has waived his right to take part in the hearing, this law clarifies this holding. According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, “[w]ithout a hearing no information about the offender may be disseminated to the community.” Thus, through this law, the Legislature seeks to prevent sex offenders from hindering the aims of the Sex Offender Registration Act by failing to appear for determination hearings.

Effective Date: October 4, 2005, except that these amendments do not apply to initial level setting determinations for offenders who are members of the plaintiff class in Doe v Pataki, 96 CIV 1657 (SDNY), or whose cases are governed by that case.

2. L 2005, ch 680 - Amending Correction Law § 168-I [Board of Examiners of Sex Offenders]

This law amends paragraphs (b) and (c) of Correction Law § 168-I(6) to require law enforcement agencies to maintain a list of vulnerable organizational entities within their jurisdictions that should be notified when a Level II or Level III sex offender poses a risk of public safety. The list of such entities shall include but not be limited to: superintendents of schools or chief school administrators, superintendents of parks, public and private libraries, public and private school bus transportation companies, day care centers, nursery schools, preschools, neighborhood watch groups, community centers, civic associations, nursing homes, victim’s advocacy groups and places of worship.

According to the Sponsor of this law, by listing these vulnerable entities in a statute, law enforcement will no longer be required to determine which organizations are vulnerable and therefore, will be free from “possible liability by the community which was not notified and/or the sex offender who believes some over broad notification was not justified.”

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

3. L 2005, ch 613 - Amending Legislation from 2000 Requiring Notification When Certain Defendants Petition to Change Their Names

Chapter 549 of the Laws of 2000 amended the Civil Rights Law, the Criminal Procedure Law, and the Executive Law to require that victims (if they so desire) as well as prosecutors, DCJS, and sentencing courts be notified when a person convicted of an enumerated felony petitions for a name change. As drafted, however, the law did not apply to offenders convicted prior to the law's effective date to be subject to the notification requirements when applying for a name change.

This new law adjusts the 2000 amendments to close the loophole by applying the notification requirements to offenders who were convicted before its effective date. [These requirements are to be applied to those who have petitions actively pending. It does not, however, apply to defendants whose petitions were granted before the effective date.]

Effective Date: August 30, 2005

4. L 2005, ch 604 - Relettering Correction Law § 168-v as § 168-w; Adding a new Correction Law § 168-v; Amending Correction Law § 168-t

This law amends the Correction Law to reletter the former section 168-v as section 168-w and adds a new section 168-v. Under the new section, any person required to register under the Sex Offender Registration Act is prohibited from operating, being employed upon, or dispensing goods for sale at retail from a motor vehicle engaged in the retail sale of frozen desserts. In addition, this law amends Correction Law § 168-t to provide that any person in violation of section 168-v shall be guilty of a class A misdemeanor for the first offense and a class D felony for the second or subsequent offense.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, this amendment is necessary to protect children because the sale of ice cream from ice cream trucks is the type of job "which bring[s] people into close contact with children on a regular basis without the supervision of their parents."

Effective Date: August 30, 2005

5. L 2005, ch 577 - Extending the Expiration Date of Article 65 of the Criminal Procedure Law [Use of Closed-Circuit Television for Certain Child Witnesses]

This law extends the expiration date of Article 65 of the CPL, which relates to the use of closed-circuit television and other protective measures for certain child witnesses in cases involving sex crimes, from September 1, 2005 to September 1,

In support of this extension, the Sponsor for this law noted that "Article 65 constitutes a recognition that young children may suffer mental or emotional harm if they are required to provide the court with incriminating testimony in the presence of the defendant."

Effective Date: August 23, 2005

6. L 2005, ch 410 - Amending the Correction Law to Add § 72-c

This law amends the Correction Law to require that the Department of Correctional Services notify local social services districts when the Department has reason to believe that an inmate who has been designated either a Level II or Level III sex offender under the Sex Offender Registration Act will likely seek local social services for homeless persons. Such notification shall be given, when practicable, 30 days or more prior to the inmate's release, but, in any event, must be provided before the inmate arrives in the jurisdiction of such local social services district. While this law becomes effective on October 1, 2005, the Department has been permitted to collect information and provide notice to local social services districts since passage of this law.

According to the Sponsor's Memo for this statute, the purpose of this legislation is to "provide coordination between the Department of Correctional Services and a Local Social Services District to enhance appropriate placement of a person released from custody who is accessing housing assistance."

Effective Date: October 1, 2005

7. L 2005, ch 318 - Amending Correction Law § 168-l [Board of Examiners of Sex Offenders]

This law amends paragraphs (b) and (c) of Correction Law § 168-l(6) to authorize law enforcement agencies to include any aliases used by a registered sex offender when disseminating information about a Level II or Level III sex offender under the Sex Offender Registration Act (SORA).

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, "[t]his change helps advance the purposes of SORA by allowing members of the public to learn alternate names an offender may be using in an attempt to hide his or her identity.”

Effective Date: October 24, 2005

8. L 2005, ch 260 - Known as “The Child Safety Act.” Amending the Public Health Law to Add Sections 1392-a, 1394-a, and 1394-b; Amending Correction Law § 168-b

This law amends the Public Health Law to require that overnight camps (PHL § 1392-a), summer day camps (PHL § 1394-a), and traveling summer day camps (PHL § 1394-b) check the state sex offender registry prior to hiring any individual. This legislation also amends Correction Law § 168-b to require that the Division of Criminal Justice Services release information in the sex offender registry regarding prospective employees to any of these camps.

In support, the Sponsor of this law noted that “[c]hildren’s camps are some of the most obvious occupations where a sex offender would most readily come into contact with children” and thus, cross-checking job applicants with the sex offender registry can “prevent such life-destroying encounters.”

Effective Date: August 18, 2005

9. L 2005, ch 252 - Amending Correction Law § 851 [Temporary Release Programs; Definitions]

This law amends Correction Law § 851 to prohibit a registered sex offender from participating in a community services program, as defined by subdivision five of that section.

It is noted that while the law already barred registered sex offenders from work release programs, work release is defined differently than a community services program. Thus, according to the Sponsor’s Memo for this law, “[t]his legislation closes a loophole in the existing corrections law which sought to prohibit release of sex offenders into the community.” In support of this amendment, the Sponsor cited the high recidivism rate amongst sex offenders and the limited amount of supervision they would receive if released into the community under one of these programs.

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

10. L 2005, ch 56 - Amending Correction Law §§ 168-b(1)(b) and 168-f(2) [Relating to Sex Offender Registration]

This law amends Correction Law § 168-b to require that the Division of Correctional Services have an updated photograph for each individual required to register pursuant to Correction Law Article 168. Level III sex offenders are required to update their photograph once a year, while Level I and Level II sex offenders are required to do so once every three years. Failure to comply with these requirements within 20 days of the anniversary of the initial registration date constitutes a violation of Correction Law § 168-t.

Effective Date: April 12, 2006

D. Miscellaneous Changes

1. L 2005, ch 736 - Known as “The Interstate Wildlife Violator Compact.” Amending the Environmental Conservation Law to add Title 25 and, more specifically, §§ 11-2501 and 11-2503

This law amends the Environmental Conservation Law to prevent violations of the hunting and fishing laws by ensuring, in cooperation with 19 other states, that nonresident sportsmen who have had their privileges suspended or revoked in their home states also have their privileges treated similarly in New York. Conversely, the law also ensures that when a nonresident commits an offense in a participating compact state and fails to meet his obligation in that state, his wildlife privileges are suspended in his home state until he meets his obligation in the state where the violation occurred.

According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, “[t]he deterrent effect on New Yorkers hunting illegally in participating states should lead to a decrease in the interstate transportation of carcasses and trophies into New York. In turn, this would decrease the likelihood of the transmission of diseases.” Further, the Sponsor noted that “[w]ith reciprocal treatment assured in the home state, nonresident violators can be issued appearance tickets rather than being brought immediately to a court for the setting of bail.”

Effective Date: October 11, 2005

2. L 2005, ch 706 - Amending Environmental Conservation Law §§ 11-0103, 11-0535, 11-0903, 11-0905, and 71-0925

This law amends various sections of the Environmental Conservation Law by expanding the list of protected wildlife species to include those that are vulnerable to commercial trade, including several species of amphibians and reptiles. Failure to comply with this section is a non-Penal Law violation.

New Laws and Legislation

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, several species may become endangered if they continue to be unprotected. Therefore, "[b]y regulating the taking of these species now, the Department [of Environmental Conservation] hopes to avoid listing them as threatened or endangered."

Effective Date: January 2, 2006

3. L 2005, ch 690 - Amending Criminal Procedure Law § 190.30 [Grand Jury; Rules of Evidence]

This law amends CPL § 190.30(3) to authorize a written or oral statement to be received in a grand jury proceeding as evidence when it is made under oath by a person attesting to (a) his ownership of, or possessory right in, a credit card or debit card account number, and (b) the defendant's lack of superior or equal right to use or possess such account number.

Under the former law, a person whose credit card had been stolen did not have to physically appear before a grand jury, but a person whose credit card number had been stolen - but not the card itself - would have to appear. According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, this amendment is necessary to reflect the new nature of identity theft crimes. The Sponsor states that under the former law, "[d]epending on where the victim lives, there can be a real hardship in requiring the victim to physically appear before a grand jury." Therefore, this amendment is "appropriate, cost-effective and protective of victims."

Effective Date: October 4, 2005

4. L 2005, ch 685 - Amending Criminal Procedure Law § 2.20 [Powers of Peace Officers]

This law amends CPL § 2.20(1) by adding a new paragraph (j) to authorize uniformed court officers to issue traffic summonses and complaints for parking, standing, or stopping violations pursuant to the vehicle and traffic law whenever they are acting pursuant to their special duties.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, the purpose of this amendment is to ensure that specifically designated parking areas in and around court complexes are used only by authorized personnel.

Effective Date: October 4, 2005

5. L 2005, ch 660 - Amending Labor Law § 135 [Duties of Employers]; Adding Labor Law § 145 [Criminal Penalties]

This law amends Labor Law § 135 to require employers to maintain proof of age of employees claiming to be between 18 and 25 years old, and adds Labor Law § 145 to provide criminal penalties and fines for persons violating any provision of Article 4 of the Labor Law relating to the employment of minors. Pursuant to section 145, a first offense is punishable by either a fine of up to $500, 60 days of imprisonment, or both, and a second or subsequent offense is punishable by either a fine of up to $5000, up to one year of imprisonment, or both.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, these changes will deter violations of the child labor law, which are widespread throughout New York City. The Sponsor noted that requiring employers to keep proof of their employees' ages will "ensure availability of the essential evidence of a violation, which is often not provided by the child worker or his or her parents for fear of retaliation by the employer." Further, the Sponsor stated that criminal sanctions for child labor law violations are necessary because employers are not deterred by civil penalties, but instead, merely "treat them as a minor additional cost of doing business."

Effective Date: December 15, 2005

6. L 2005, ch 653 - Adding Environmental Conservation Law § 11-1906 [On-line Shoots Prohibited]; Amending Environmental Conservation Law § 71-0923 [Violations]

This law adds ECL § 11-1906 to prohibit the creation or maintenance of a website, shooting gallery, or other business in New York for purposes of on-line shooting or spearing of targets or animals. Further, this law amends ECL § 71-0923 to add a new subdivision (12), which states that violation of section 11-1906 “shall be punishable by a fine of not more than two thousand five hundred dollars.” According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, New York cannot allow hunting via the internet to occur, as it “takes the honor and the sport out of hunting and turns it into the equivalent of an online video game.” The Sponsor noted that “[t]his [law] is in response to Live-Shot.com, a Texas based website, which allows users to hunt and target shoot with live ammunition over the [i]nternet.”

Effective Date: September 16, 2005

7. L 2005, ch 642 - Amending Criminal Procedure Law § 150.40(2) [Appearance Ticket; Where Returnable; How and Where Served]

This law amends the language of CPL § 150.40(2) in an attempt to prevent challenges to non-personal service as inadequate. Specifically, the amendment now allows for violation of either local zoning ordinances or laws. This technical amendment, according to the Sponsor’s Memo, is necessary because “most villages in the State enforce zoning through local laws,” not zoning ordinances. Further, the legislation removes the term “local” from the provision that an appearance ticket for violation of “a local building or sanitation code” may be served pursuant to CPLR § 308. The reasoning behind this change is that all of the municipalities in the state, except for New York City, rely upon the Uniform Fire Prevention and Building Code and the State Sanitation Code, not “local” codes.

Effective Date: August 30, 2005

8. L 2005, ch 526 - Amending Agriculture and Markets Law § 121 [Dangerous Dogs]; Amending NYC Administrative Code § 17-350 [Violations and Penalties]

This law amends Agriculture and Markets Law § 121(8) to increase the maximum fine that may be imposed upon a dog owner when a dog that has been previously deemed dangerous causes serious physical injury. For violation of this subdivision, which constitutes an unclassified misdemeanor, the maximum fine allowable is now $3000. In addition, this law provides that any monetary penalty may be reduced by any amount that is paid by the dog owner as restitution to the victim for unreimbursed medical expenses, lost earnings, or other damages resulting from the attack. This law also amends NYC Administrative Code § 17-350 to include a similar provision for restitution in its penalty provisions covering dangerous dog attacks.

According to the Sponsor’s Memo in support of this law, under the prior law dog owners were subject to higher penalties for attacks on certain livestock than on human beings. Considering that “Americans are bitten by dogs almost 5 million times a year,” the Sponsor noted that this law was necessary to “redress this imbalance and encourage responsible dog ownership.”

Effective Date: November 14, 2005

9. L 2005, ch 523 - Amending Agriculture and Markets Law § 353 [Overdriving, Torturing and Injuring Animals; Failure to Provide Proper Sustenance]

This law increases the penalty for violation of Agriculture and Markets Law § 353 from an unclassified misdemeanor to a Class A misdemeanor. It also makes a violation of section 353 a printable offense under CPL § 160.10(1)(b).

Effective Date: November 1, 2005

10. L 2005, ch 484 - Amending Navigation Law §§ 2, 40, 43, 47, and 49-c

This law amends the above mentioned sections of the Navigation Law to classify kayaks to be the same as rowboats and canoes. This legislation also amends the language of Navigation Law § 40(1)(d) to clarify that a person under the age of twelve is required to wear a personal flotation device only on a pleasure vessel and not while on a public or residential vessel. [Failure to comply with this section is a violation punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars.]

Effective Date: August 9, 2005

11. L 2005, ch 457 - Amending the Judiciary Law and the Criminal Procedure Law in Relation to the Use of Credit Cards to Pay Fees, Fines, Surcharges, and Bail

New Laws and Legislation

This law amends Judiciary Law § 212(2) to broaden the court-related payments that may be made to a court by way of a credit card or similar device to include all court fees, fines, surcharges, and other monies the Judiciary collects on behalf of the state. This law also amends this section to provide that the Chief Administrator of the Court may require a party making payment in this manner to pay a reasonable administrative fee.

Further, this law makes two amendments to the Criminal Procedure Law. First, the law amends CPL § 420.05 to expand the use of credit cards for payment of all court imposed surcharges and fees. [Previously, only the mandatory surcharge and crime victim assistance fee could be paid by credit card; all other Penal Law § 60.35 fees could not.] Second, the law amends CPL § 520.10(1)(l) to allow posting of bail by credit card or similar device, regardless of the nature of the charges against the principal.

According to the Sponsor's Memo for this law, it was necessary to expand the payments for which use of a credit card is authorized because the narrow language of the prior statutes constrained the efficient collection of revenue by the courts.

Effective Date: August 9, 2005 for the payment of the expanded list of fees by credit card; and January 1, 2006 for the payment of bail by credit card.

12. L 2005, ch 274 - Amending § 33 of Chapter 912 of the Laws of 1920

This law amends section 33 of Chapter 912 of the Laws of 1920 relating to the regulation of boxing, sparring and wrestling matches in order to make the penalty provisions of that section consistent with the implementation of the Professional Wrestling Health and Safety Act of 2002. Specifically, the legislation removes all personnel involved in professional wrestling from any licensing requirements, except for any person or entity that promotes a professional wrestling match or exhibition within the state. Further, the law clarifies that promoting these activities without being licensed to do so is a misdemeanor.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, the amendment was necessary to make the Laws of 1920 coincide with the Professional Wrestling Health and Safety Act of 2002, which recognized that professional wrestling is not a competitive sport and, therefore, did not require licensing for personnel other than promoters. The rationale for continued licensing of promoters is that wrestling "still involves action that, in the hands of amateurs or inexperienced promoters, could result in injury to the participants, and maybe even the fans."

13. L 2005, ch 186 - Amending Executive Law §§ 646-a(2) and 642(1), Criminal Procedure Law § 440.50(1), and Correction Law § 149

This law amends Executive Law § 646-a(2) to add paragraph (g). Paragraph (g) requires that the informational pamphlet given to crime victims include the division of parole's contact information so that the victim can learn of the defendant's incarceration status, as well as update their own contact information. This legislation also amends Executive Law § 642(1) to require the District Attorney to consult with victims of certain felony offenses regarding disposition of their cases. Further, this law amends CPL § 440.50(1) to require the District Attorney to inform the victim of the final disposition of the case where "the final disposition includes a conviction of a violent felony offense as defined in [PL § 70.02] or a felony defined in [Article 125 of the Penal Law]," regardless of whether the victim requests such information. Finally, this legislation amends Correction Law § 149 to require that the Department of Correctional Services notify the District Attorney of the release of any inmate who has been convicted of a felony two or more times. Such notification is required to be given at least 48 hours prior to the release of the inmate.

According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of this law, "[t]hese provisions will further assist victims in dealing with the aftermath of a crime by enabling the victim to be aware of judicial proceedings."

14. L 2005, chs 134, 107, 106 - Amending Various Sections of Article 25 of the Arts and Cultural Affairs Law

These laws amend the entertainment ticket scalping laws, which are found within Article 25 of the Arts and Cultural Affairs Law. According to the Sponsor's Memo in support of Chapter 106, "[t]his [law] will repeal the maximum premium price restrictions on the resale of tickets to places of entertainment for venues with over 6000 seats . . . [and] will increase the licensing fees and bond requirements for ticket resellers."

15. L 2005, ch 10 - Amending Environment Conservation Law §§ 11-0103 [Definitions] and 11-0512 [Possession, Sale, Barter, Transfer, Exchange and Import of Wild Animals as Pets Prohibited]

This law amends subdivision eight of Environmental Conservation Law § 11-0512 to add the police to the list of those "authorized to enforce the provisions of this section[, to] . . . issue notices of violation to persons in violation of this section, and . . . to seize any wild animal held in violation of this section." It also adds that "[a]ny costs associated with seizing, transferring or euthanizing a wild animal shall be borne by the person who owned, harbored or possessed the animal." This offense constitutes "a violation, punishable . . . by imprisonment for not more than fifteen days, or by a fine of not more than two hundred fifty dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment." ECL § 71-0923.

Further, this law amends ECL § 11-0103(6)(e) to exclude from the list of prohibited wild animals certain domestic cat hybrids, to ban Komodo dragons, to make technical changes to the list of banned reptiles, and to require that fennec foxes that are not subject to the ban on wild animals as pets be captive-bred fennec foxes.

NYC Criminal Court Jurisdiction

New York City Criminal Court is a court of citywide jurisdiction but, since November, 2004, has exercised full administrative oversight of all Criminal Court operations in just four boroughs of New York City. In 2005 Criminal Court administration assigned fifty-eight judges to preside over cases in five main courthouses, two community courthouses, a citywide summons operation in Manhattan and a summons operation in the Queens Borough Hall.

Criminal Court has preliminary jurisdiction over all arrests processed in the five counties of New York City by state and local law enforcement agencies. Criminal Court arraigns the vast majority of felony, misdemeanor and petty offense cases in the city.

Misdemeanors

Criminal Court has trial jurisdiction over all misdemeanor cases not prosecuted by indictment — and adjudicates these cases in Kings, New York, Queens and Richmond counties from their initial court appearance until final disposition. (In Bronx county, misdemeanors that survive Criminal Court arraignment are transferred to the Criminal Division of Bronx Supreme Court). Outside Bronx county, Criminal Court handles all aspects of the hundreds of thousands of misdemeanor cases filed each year including arraignment, trial readiness, motion practice, pre-trial hearings and trial. The vast majority of misdemeanor cases are disposed by guilty plea or other disposition but the Court presides over a significant number of trials each year.

Summonses

Cases initiated by a summons make up a very large portion of the cases heard in Criminal Court. Summonses are typically issued by police officers for minor Penal Law violations or by peace officers/enforcement agents (and, again, police officers) whose duties mandate enforcement of the local laws (e.g., the NYC Administrative Code). Criminal Court has trial jurisdiction over summons matters, hearing the case from arraignment to trial or final disposition.

Felonies

Criminal Court has preliminary jurisdiction over felony cases. Felonies are typically arraigned in Criminal Court. Cases are usually adjourned to a Felony Waiver Part to await the decision of the Grand Jury on whether the defendant should stand trial on the felony charges. Felony cases are transferred to Supreme Court after a grand jury votes an indictment.

While Criminal Court does not have jurisdiction to hear trials on felony matters, a very large number of final dispositions on felonies are adjudicated by our Criminal Court judges sitting in Felony Waiver Parts. (These judges are designated by administrative order to sit as an Acting Justice of the Supreme Court). These parts act as both Criminal Court and Supreme Court Parts, allowing prosecutor and defense counsel to agree in certain cases to waive the presentation to the Grand Jury and instead prosecute the case with a Superior Court Information (SCI). Cases disposed of by SCI make up a substantial percentage of all felony dispositions throughout the city.

Arraignment	NYC Criminal Court Has Trial Jurisdiction over misdemeanors and petty offenses (those where the defendant faces no more than one year in jail upon conviction after trial).
All Purpose Part	Trial Jurisdiction means that once the defendant has been accused of the offense, the Court has the authority to accept a plea of guilty, conduct a trial, or otherwise dispose of the charges. Criminal Court handles all aspects of these cases from arraignment to trial readiness to final disposition. Criminal Court never loses jurisdiction over these cases as it might with a case over which it has Preliminary Jurisdiction . The one exception is when the district attorney files notice that they intend to present the case to a grand jury and seek indictment. If the district attorney obtains an indictment the case is then transferred to Supreme Court. If no indictment follows, Criminal Court retains Trial Jurisdiction.

All Purpose Part	Felonies are arraigned in Criminal Court and typically sent to the Felony Waiver Part to await grand jury action. Dispositions are taken in the Felony Waiver Part. If a Grand Jury indicts, the case is transferred to Supreme Court.

Bronx Pilot Project - An Administrative Reorganization

In an effort to better utilize scarce judicial resources and react more efficiently and effectively to changes in arrest patterns, Criminal Court has participated in a pilot project to reorganize the case processing structure of the Bronx criminal justice system. Starting in November 2004, administrative oversight of many Criminal Court operations in the Bronx was transferred to the newly created Bronx Criminal Division. Criminal Court continues to maintain an operational and support presence in the Bronx. Criminal Court adjudicates all summons matters in the Bronx. All felony and misdemeanor arraignments are heard by judges sitting in the Criminal Court and misdemeanor cases are only transferred to the Bronx Criminal Division if they survive this initial court appearance.

Administratively, Criminal Court continues to lend operational and budgetary support to the Criminal Division's Administrative Judge John Collins and Deputy Administrative Judge Eugene Oliver (former supervising judge of Bronx Criminal Court) on issues and matters that are within its statutory jurisdiction. Moreover, we lend technical support to important initiatives. Justin Barry, Criminal Court's drug court coordinator, consulted with Bronx administrators, judges and drug court personnel on the creation of a new Bronx Misdemeanor Treatment Court and implementation of the comprehensive screening project to quickly and efficiently identify eligible drug court defendants. Criminal Court's chief clerk's staff continued to lend technical assistance on a variety of important issues, including budget, supplies, recordkeeping and cashing.

This report details information relating to Bronx Criminal Court's budget and its summons operation. We also list, below, a statistical overview of arraignments in the Bronx for 2005. Other statistics relating to misdemeanor and preliminary felony case processing are not reported at length here.

COURT OPERATIONS – ARRAIGNMENTS

Senior Court Clerk Jose Colon
Brooklyn Arraignments

Arraignment marks the first time that a criminal defendant appears in court. Criminal Court operates arraignment parts day and night, everyday of the year in all five counties of the city. In 2005, 250,522 defendants were arraigned in Kings, New York, Queens and Richmond counties on Desk Appearance Ticket (DAT) or On-Line arrest cases.

Arraignments are actually the final stage of the arrest process in New York City. Before the defendant appears before the Judge, a complicated series of actions must occur, all typically within a twenty-four hour period. The flowchart on page 28 shows all of the necessary steps that must occur between a defendant's arrest and the time that he or she first appears in court. The defendant must be brought to Central Booking where his arrest photo and fingerprints are taken. The fingerprints are electronically sent to the Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS) where a criminal history or rap sheet is produced and returned to the police in Central Booking. Meanwhile the Criminal Justice Agency interviews each defendant for the purpose of making a bail recommendation and the arresting officer meets with an Assistant District Attorney in order to draft the complaint that will start the criminal prosecution. All of these items - complaint, rap sheet and CJA report - must be compiled before the court may arraign the defendant. Once the necessary paperwork is completed, it is all delivered to court arraignment clerks who determine which courtroom should conduct the arraignment, assign a docket number to the case and initialize the case in the court's computer system. Defense counsel - either assigned or private - is then given an opportunity to interview the defendant before he or she sees the judge.

In the Arraignment Part, criminal defendants are notified of the charges that have been filed against them and their rights. The judge will also hear arguments from the assistant district attorney and defense counsel concerning bail - whether it is appropriate and, if so, what form the bail should take and how much.

Arraignment is also the first opportunity to dispose of misdemeanor cases. In 2005 there were 124,204 cases disposed of throughout all of Criminal Court's four county arraignment parts, almost 50% of all arrest cases arraigned.

Arrest to Arraignment – The Path of the Case

ARREST TO ARRAIGNMENT FLOWCHART

Arrest to Arraignment – The Process

There is a tremendous amount of work that must be done after the police arrest a defendant and before the defendant is ready to appear in front of a judge at arraignment. The police must meet with the District Attorney’s Office who will in turn draft a complaint. The police must also send the defendant’s fingerprints to DCJS in Albany and await the return of a criminal history. The court arraignment clerks must create a court file, docket number and enter the information into the court’s database. Meanwhile, the Criminal Justice Agency must interview the defendant and make a bail recommendation.

Only after all of this takes place, does a defense attorney speak to the defendant and file notice that the defendant is ready to be arraigned by the Court. This page highlights the average between arrest and arraignment for 2005 and how that compares with the past years. This time period is made all the more important by a mandate from the Court of Appeals to complete this process within twenty-four hours.

Arraignment Dispositions

While only the first court appearance, more cases are disposed of in arraignment than at any other stage in the life of a Criminal Court filing. Citywide, slightly less than half of all case filings were disposed of at their initial court appearance. Almost all of these dispositions involved misdemeanor or other petty offenses. Disposition rates in the four counties are fairly consistent except for Staten Island where only a little less than one third of all cases are disposed of in arraignments.

Dispositions at Arraignment

Citywide Summons Operation

In the past year, the personnel working in the Citywide Summons back office processed almost 650,000 summons filings.

The twenty-nine clerks, data entry and office assistants who comprise the Citywide Summons Operation are responsible for scanning, initializing and docketing every summons case filed with Criminal Court.

Summonses come from over forty certified agencies including the New York City Police Department, Metropolitan Transportation Authority, the New York City Fire Department, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Taxi and Limousine Commission, Off Track Betting Corporation, Tax Enforcement, Roosevelt Island Authority and the Unified Court System.

Authorized agencies deliver summonses at the Court's Central Receiving Unit. The Central Receiving Unit separates these summonses by county and appearance date and then looks for defects serious enough that would prohibit the summons from being docketed, such as a missing signature or narrative, or bad return date. The summonses are then copied into the Court's computer system by high speed scanners which recognize each ticket's bar coded summons number and then produce an electronic image of the ticket.

Once the summonses are scanned into the Summons Automated Management System (SAMS), data entry personnel enter all the pertinent information into the SAMS database and assign each summons a docket number.

After data entry staff log the information and create a docket, the summonses are then forwarded to the appropriate county's summons office where the Associate Court Clerk in charge coordinates with the Supervising Judge's office to ensure that a timely review for legal sufficiency takes place prior to the scheduled arraignment date. Summonses that survive judicial review are then calendared for arraignment.

Data Recording Assistant Clara Dantzler
Citywide Summons Operation

While individual counties still hear and, if necessary, try the individual summons cases, the Citywide Summons Operations responsibilities do not end when the cases are sent to the individual counties (Brooklyn and Manhattan cases are heard at 346 Broadway). The Summons team also sends out notices for cases rejected because of defect or dismissed after judicial review. They are also the central repository for all summons records. Certificates of disposition are given after a review of the SAMS system for cases adjudicated after 1999. For older cases books and computer printouts are used by the Summons clerical staff to locate and verify summons dispositions going back to 1970.

Plea By Mail

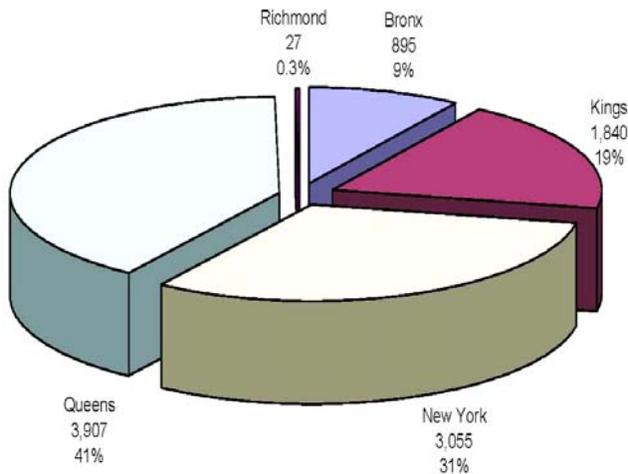

2005 was the first full calendar year that individuals receiving a Criminal Court summons citing a violation of Section 10-125 (2)(b) of the N.Y.C. Administrative Code- "Consumption of Alcohol on Streets Prohibited" (also known as "Open Container Violation" or "Consumption of Alcohol in Public") were eligible to plead guilty and pay a $25 fine by mail. 2005 also marked the first year that this program, originally piloted in Queens county, was expanded to the entire city.

In 2005, 9,724 people chose to plead guilty by mail and send a check or money order to the court. These individuals did not appear in court. This program is another example of the new initiatives that Criminal Court has instituted to more wisely manage limited staffing resources.

COURT OPERATIONS — PRE-TRIAL ALL-PURPOSE PARTS

The All-Purpose or "AP" parts are the motion parts of the Criminal Court. Extensive plea negotiations take place in these courtrooms prior to the case being in a trial-ready posture. In addition, depending upon caseloads, the judges in the AP parts may conduct pre-trial hearings, felony hearings and bench trials.

Misdemeanors are typically sent to the AP part from arraignments so that the case may be made ready for trial. If, at arraignment, the defendant was arraigned on a misdemeanor complaint and the case was not converted to an information, the AP part is where the prosecutor will file the necessary affidavits and depositions to make the allegations non-hearsay.

AP parts throughout the city dispose of tens of thousands of cases each year as a result of negotiations between defense counsel and prosecutor. In the four counties, there were 113,376 cases disposed of in AP parts, accounting for 45% of all dispositions throughout the year.

AP parts decide most of the motions submitted on misdemeanor cases. The majority of motions to dismiss for such grounds as facial insufficiency, denial of speedy trial rights, in the furtherance of justice or any other jurisdictional or legal impediment are typically raised in the AP part. Omnibus motions, which include discovery requests, bills of particulars, motions to suppress evidence and requests for suppression hearings and jury trials are usually filed and decided in the AP part. Increasingly, district attorneys' offices are agreeing to open file discovery in the AP part, which involves the prosecutor turning over to defense counsel most of the police reports and information in the district attorney's files, speeding the way to real trial readiness.

The AP part truly lives up to its name. These parts also hear bail applications; act as the return parts for defendants brought back on bench warrants; hear violation of probation matters and to a limited degree conduct pre-trial hearings and some bench trials. Over the years, some of these AP parts have become specialized. Included in this section are problem-solving courts designed to focus on various societal problems, including Domestic Violence Courts, Drug Courts and Persistent Misdemeanant or "Spotlight" parts. Also included in this section is an accounting of the various Compliance parts throughout the city. These parts follow the progress of sentenced defendants on domestic violence cases or their compliance with court-ordered conditions of discharge, probation or release, taking some of the burden off the busy AP parts.

Note: While these specialized parts are AP parts, for the purposes of this report they are reported on separately. Statistics on AP parts include only "non-specialized courtrooms." Information on the "specialized" courtrooms appears in their own sections. For a full discussion of the NYC Criminal Court Drug Court Initiative, please see the separate drug court Annual Report.

Felony Waiver Parts

Criminal Court has preliminary jurisdiction over felony cases filed in New York City. Criminal Court retains jurisdiction of the felony cases until a grand jury hears the case and indicts the defendant. Defendants charged with felonies are arraigned in the Criminal Court arraignment parts and cases are then usually sent to a felony waiver part to await grand jury action. Once the prosecutor notifies the court that indictment has been voted, the case is transferred to Supreme Court.

Felony waiver parts are staffed by Criminal Court judges designated as Acting Supreme Court justices. District Attorney's Offices will often negotiate plea bargains in these parts by offering the defendant the opportunity to plead guilty to a reduced charge or receive a reduced sentence. Defendants agreeing to plead guilty in the felony waiver part must waive their right to be prosecuted by indictment and agree to prosecution by a Superior Court Information or "SCI," an accusation drafted by the district attorney rather than the grand jury. Over 26,000 dispositions were taken in felony waiver parts in the four counties in 2005.

Felony waiver parts also hear motions, bail applications and extradition matters among other things. They are among some of the most productive courtrooms in the city. Over 106,000 appearances on cases were calendared in Criminal Court's felony waiver parts throughout the city of which over 26,000 were disposed. Compare this with the approximately 20,000 dispositions combined in the corresponding four Supreme Courts.

Honorable Alan J. Meyer
Staten Island Criminal Court

While every county disposes of a large amount of drug cases in their felony waiver parts, the practice differs with other cases. For instance, New York County does not have a felony waiver part for non-drug cases but Brooklyn has a felony waiver part that handles all types of felony filings.

Domestic Violence Courts

Criminal Court currently operates Domestic Violence or DV courts within every county. Brooklyn, Manhattan and Queens operate DV Complexes, which include an All-Purpose part, Trial part and Compliance parts dedicated to adjudicating these types of crimes. All told, Criminal Court has six courtrooms dedicated to handling these types of offenses.

Domestic Violence or DV courts are forums that focus on crimes related to domestic violence and abuse and improving the administration of justice surrounding these types of crimes.

Spotlight Parts

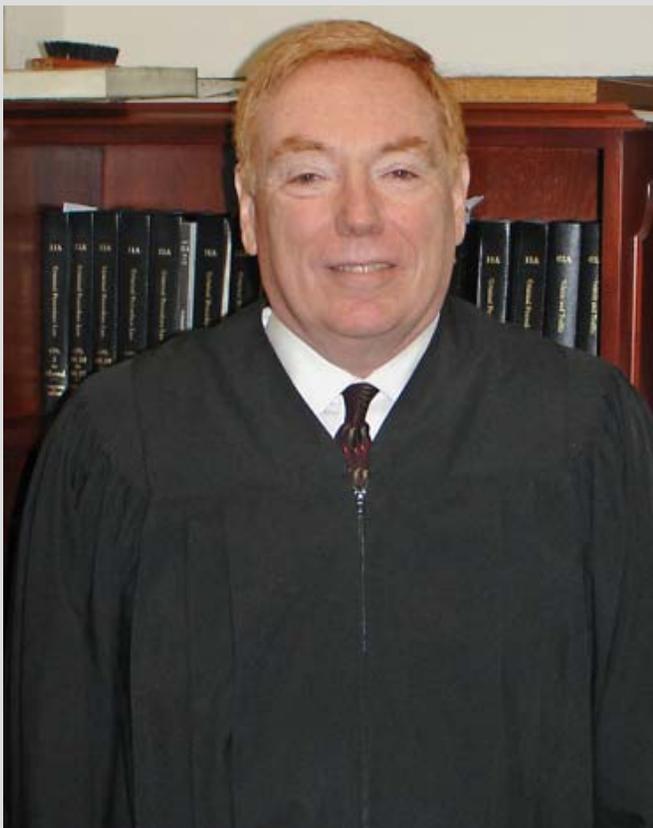

Operation Spotlight, a multi-agency initiative sponsored by the Mayor's Office of the Criminal Justice Coordinator, launched in 2002, focuses on chronic misdemeanor offenders who commit a disproportionate amount of crime throughout the city. Specialized courts were established in all five boroughs to hear Operation Spotlight cases. The initiative has expedited the processing of narcotics laboratory reports, fast-tracked probation and parole revocations, and increased trial capacity and direct links to services for drug-addicted and mentally ill defendants.

The Mayor's office defines a "Operation Spotlight" defendant as someone whose criminal record shows:

1. 3 or more arrests within the last 12 months, at least 2 of which must be for non-felony offenses; and
2. 2 or more misdemeanor convictions, at least 1 occurring within the last 12 months.

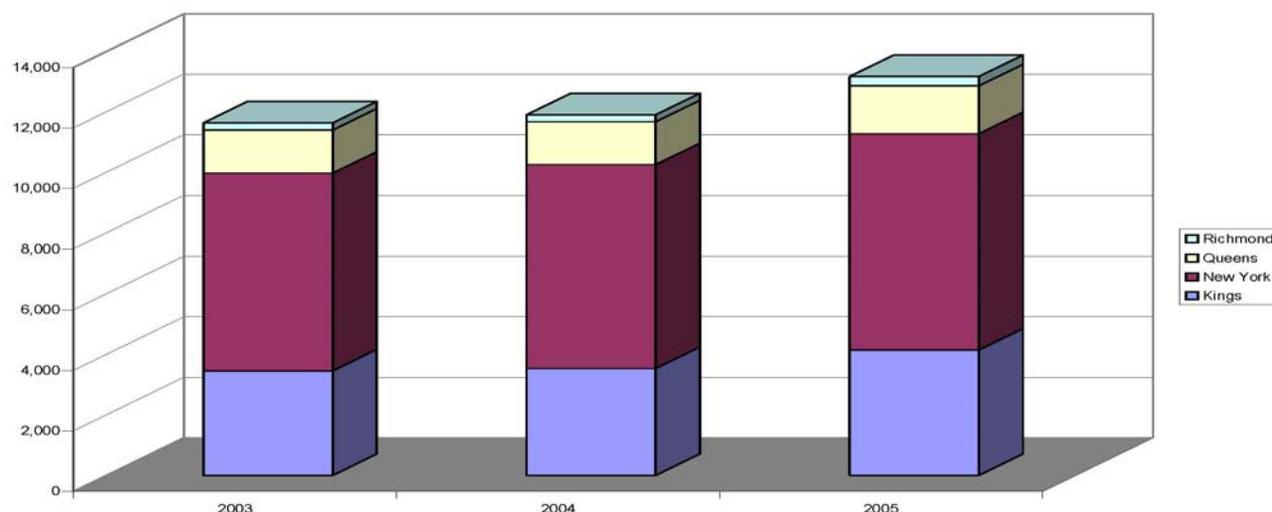

Defendants who meet this criteria have a "Operation Spotlight" designation marked on their criminal history or Rap sheet.

Drug Treatment Court Initiative

Senior Case Manager Desiree Rivera Manhattan Treatment Court

Criminal Court’s six drug courts handle cases involving drug-abusing offenders. Each seeks to change drug-abusing behavior through comprehensive supervision, drug testing, treatment services and immediate sanctions and incentives.

Drug court staff interview eligible non-violent defendants to determine whether they abuse drugs and are able to enter into a substance abuse treatment program. If the defendant is interested in participating, he or she pleads guilty and agrees to enter treatment for anywhere from 8 months to 2 years (depending on the court, the severity of the crime and length of the defendant’s criminal record). With the help of the drug court staff, the judge supervises the defendant’s progress in treatment with frequent drug tests, visits to court and intense case management. The court will impose interim sanctions (including jail) if the defendant tests positive for drugs or fails to go to treatment and will offer interim incentives (such as increasing amounts of freedom) if the defendant does consistently well. If the defendant completes treatment, the court will either dismiss the charges or impose a non-jail sentence. If the defendant ultimately fails to follow through on his/her court mandate, the court will impose a jail sentence.

Drug courts offer not only substance abuse treatment to participating defendants, but also other services such as medical and psychiatric care, educational services, vocational training and job placement.

Criminal Court has also instituted Comprehensive Screening, a system of ensuring that all defendants eligible to participate in a drug court are given that opportunity within a day or two of their arrest. It is a two step process involving a review of a defendant’s rap sheet and charges by a court clerk prior to arraignment and a clinical assessment the day after arraignment by a drug court case manager to determine whether the defendant abuses drugs and is eligible for treatment. Brooklyn began Comprehensive Screening in January 2003 , the Bronx started the program before court merger was finalized and Queens started the planning process for this program in 2005 and expects to make it operational in 2006.

Compliance Parts

Every county except Richmond has a Domestic Violence Compliance part. In these parts, cases in which a Domestic Violence Court judge orders defendants to attend batterer intervention, substance abuse, mental health or parenting skills programs are monitored by a Judicial Hearing Officer to ensure that the defendants comply with the judges' directives. Defendants who do not comply are referred back to the original judge for appropriate action.

In addition to DVC, Queens and New York have compliance calendars that monitor defendants' performance of conditions of sentence and/or release. Cases are referred from all Queens and New York courtrooms other than the domestic violence part.

Court Dispute Referral Centers

Criminal Court has Court Dispute Referral Centers (CDRCs) in each borough. CDRC staff assist people who wish to make a complaint against another person. CDRC staff evaluate the complaint and provide the complainant with options and information for resolving the dispute.

Disputes brought to CDRC may be between neighbors, acquaintances, family members, landlords and tenants, or consumer and merchant. The disputes may involve harassment, assault, violence, property damage, trespass or larceny. Many of these cases, after review by the CDRC staff, proceed to outside mediation where they are resolved. Mediation is a voluntary process in which disputing parties meet with a neutral third party, the mediator, who helps them come to a resolution of their problem. Some disputes are referred to other courts or social service agencies. Domestic violence and abuse cases are referred to the District Attorney's office.

COURT OPERATIONS – TRIAL PARTS

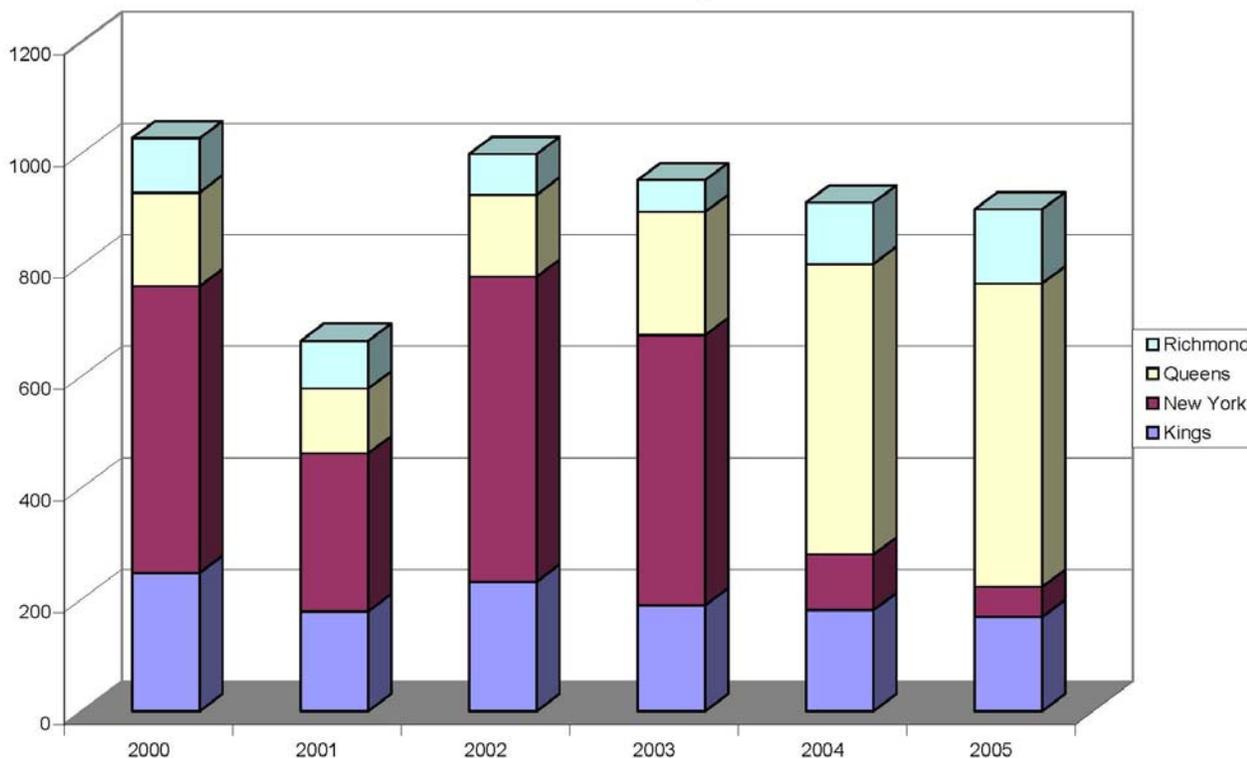

Trial Parts in the Criminal Court handle most of the trials – both bench and jury. (Some trials are conducted in the Court’s AP parts). In New York State only those individuals charged with a serious crime, defined as one where the defendant faces more than six (6) months in jail, are entitled to a jury trial. Those defendants facing six (6) months incarceration or less are entitled to a bench trial before a judge.

Trial Parts also handle many of the pre-trial hearings that must be conducted before the trial begins. These include suppression, Sandoval, Molineux and other evidentiary hearings.

Criminal Court also conducts a limited amount of hearings upon felony complaints.

Honorable Evelyn Laporte
Manhattan Criminal Court

Pre-Trial Hearings

Pre Trial Hearings

Trial Parts conduct the majority of the pretrial hearings done in the Criminal Court. The statistics below, divided into felony and other hearings, show the number of pretrial hearings. Felony hearings upon a felony complaint, determining whether a defendant should be held in custody while awaiting action by a grand jury, are typically done in a felony waiver part - although they may take place in any court part.

The "other hearing" category is comprised of pre-trial suppression hearings, Sandoval, Molineux and other evidentiary hearings.

A breakdown of hearings done since 2000 is offered below.

COURT OPERATIONS – COMMUNITY COURTS

Red Hook Community Justice Center

Red Hook Community Justice Center (RHCJC), opened in 2000, reflects a partnership of the Criminal Court of the City of New York, the Kings County District Attorney's Office, the Center for Court Innovation and the City of New York, as well as partnerships with many community based social service providers. Modeled after the Midtown Community Court, the Justice Center integrates the functions of a court with the types of treatment and preventive services typically found in a community center. Staff working for the Center for Court Innovation have offices at the Red Hook site and provide seamless services to the Court and the public.

RHCJC seeks to address the needs of the community as a whole, and is structured to address them by incorporating a multi-jurisdictional court and housing programs to improve the quality of life for the Red Hook community. The Justice Center provides on-site social services addressing drug abuse, poverty, family violence, unemployment and education. It also houses community mediation and job training programs. All of these services are available to defendants and victims as well as to members of the Red Hook community.

RHCJC also offers innovative programs designed to address the needs of a particularly vulnerable population, young adults. The Youth Court tries to mediate problems between kids before they flare into something that must involve the Criminal Justice System.

RHCJC also incorporates state-of-the-art technology making information readily available to judges and court personnel. This access enables informed decisions to be made more expeditiously and provides the court with the ability to track sentences and compliance with program mandates.

While standard statistics can really only show a small amount of the work actually done at courts like Red Hook, the next three pages give a snapshot of the volume and kind of cases that are seen at both Red Hook and Midtown Community Courts.

COURT OPERATIONS – COMMUNITY COURTS

Midtown Community Court

Launched in 1993, the Midtown Community Court targets quality-of-life offenses, such as prostitution, illegal vending, graffiti, shoplifting, farebeating and vandalism. Typically in these cases, judges are often forced to choose between a few days of jail time and nothing at all - sentences that fail to impress on either the victim, the community or defendants that these offenses are taken seriously. In contrast, the Midtown Community Court sentences low-level offenders to pay back the neighborhood through community service while at the same time offering them help with problems that often underlie criminal behavior. Residents, businesses and social service agencies collaborate with the Court by supervising community service projects and by providing on-site social services, including drug treatment, health care and job training. In 1999, the Court began to hear small claims cases as well, bringing a problem-solving approach to a new set of neighborhood problems.

The chart to the right shows the path of a typical Midtown case from arrest to the referral to social services. The host of services offered at Midtown come into play at different stages of the process.

Midtown Community Court Case Flow Summary

COURT OPERATIONS - CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION

Central Administration at 100 Centre Street coordinates and oversees the operation of Criminal Court throughout the city. Central Administration is divided into three main offices - the Administrative Judge, Chief Clerk and Chief Court Attorney.

Office of the Administrative Judge

Administrative Judge Juanita Bing Newton is the chief judicial officer of the Court. The administrative judge is responsible for the overall direction and policies of the Court. Judge Newton is also responsible for judicial assignments and meets with the individual county Supervising Judges on a regular basis to map out new programs and initiatives to ensure that the Court runs properly.

Included in the Administrative Judge's staff are her counsel, Beverly Russell, who assists her in the day-to-day management of the Court, the Citywide Drug Court Coordinator and the Citywide Domestic Violence Court Coordinator, respectively Justin Barry and Lisa Lindsay, who assist the Administrative and Supervising Judges in the planning, implementation, budgeting and day-to-day operations of these specialized courts.

Office of the Chief Clerk

Chief Clerk William Etheridge supervises all non-judicial staff throughout the court. Assisted by First Deputy Chief Clerk Vincent Modica and Personnel Director Ada Molina, the Office of the Chief Clerk's responsibilities include:

- Liaison to the Administrative Judge, Supervising Judges, Borough Chief Clerks and Chief Court Attorney;
- Liaison to the Office of Court Administration;
- Budget Preparation and Control;
- Personnel Assignments;
- Operational Directives;
- Citywide Facilities Management;
- Coordination of Training;
- Citywide Summons Oversight; and
- Grievance Oversight.

The Chief Clerk's Office also includes other city-wide supervisors who coordinate assignments for their respective staff throughout the city. These supervisors include those for court reporters, court interpreters, technology, compliance, summons, data entry and records and supply.

Court Analyst Abel Peltro
Personnel Department

Chief Court Attorney

Chief Court Attorney Michael Yavinsky is responsible for the assignment and supervision of court attorneys working for the Criminal Court citywide. This office also keeps judicial and non-judicial staff abreast of new developments and changes in the criminal law. The Chief Court Attorney also assists the Administrative Judge with training initiatives for both judges and non-judicial employees. Lastly, this office is the primary liaison with the Office of Court Administration Counsel's Office in monitoring any lawsuits involving Criminal Court.

COURT OPERATIONS – SUMMARY INFORMATION

The charts on pages 65 and 66 give a fairly good summary of some of the work that is accomplished in the Criminal Court over the course of the year.

Caseloads

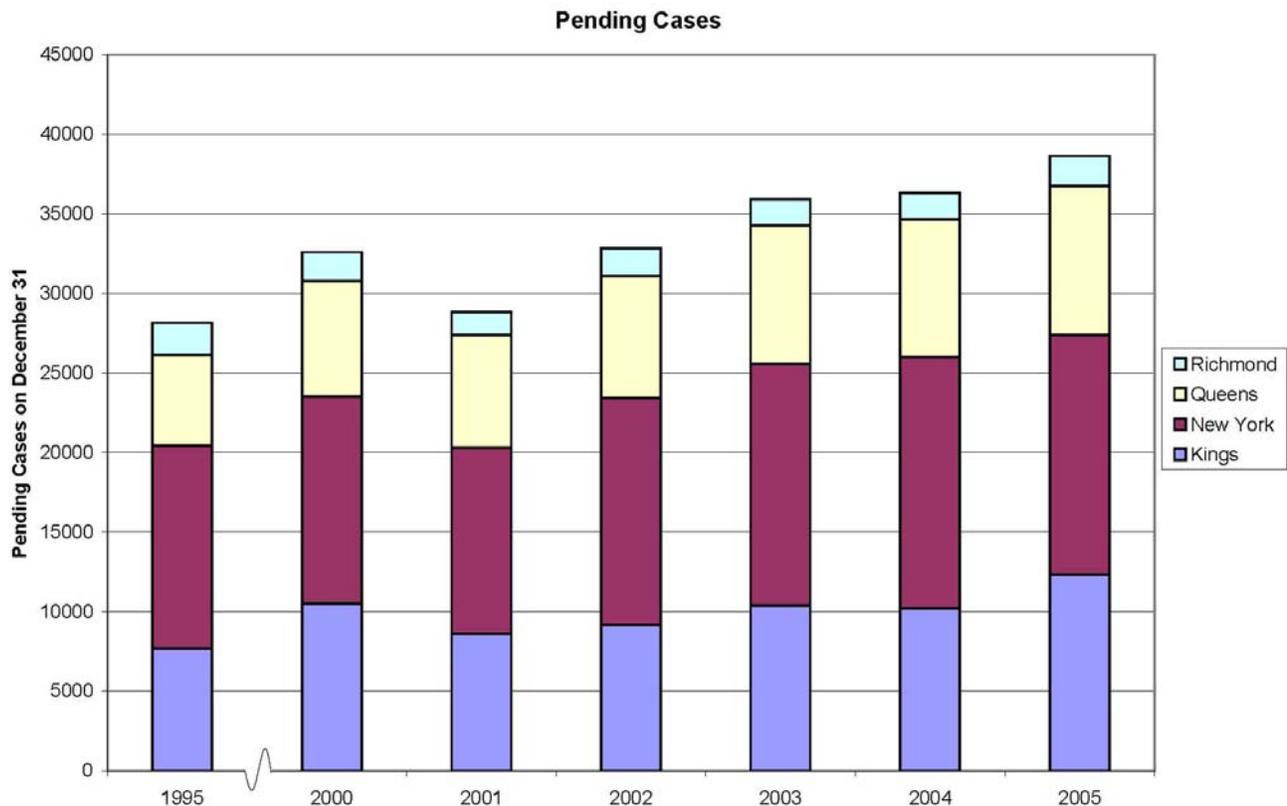

The charts below and on the facing page show the caseload, or number of cases in Criminal Court citywide, pending as of the last day of the year. These pending caseload numbers are a fairly good indication of the amount of work pending in the Court at any given time and the amount of work handled by judges and non-judicial personnel.

Dispositions

The chart on page 66 indicates the numbers and types of dispositions reported every year since 2000 and 1995.

Court News - Facilities For the Future

Criminal Court and the Office of Court Administration are taking steps to address the Court's, sometimes, outdated infrastructure.

Brooklyn

Following the move by Brooklyn Supreme Court to its new home on Jay Street, a major renovation is planned for Brooklyn Criminal Court in 2006. Criminal Court will be able to expand its operations to courtrooms and offices vacated by Supreme Court and the new work will also restore some of the architectural integrity and beauty of the original structure, cut up and damaged long ago to gain precious space for the operations of two busy courts. The Court has retained an architectural firm to modernize the courthouse paying particular attention to upgrading the back offices and creating a new home for the DV complex.

Manhattan

Manhattan Criminal Court is set to begin a long awaited redesign and renovation of its 100 Centre Street lobby in 2006 that will allow for better traffic flow for the public entering the courthouse and modern amenities such as information displays and climate control.

Staten Island

Plans for a new Staten Island courthouse are expected to move forward this coming year. This long awaited project will replace the badly outdated courthouse built and designed for a different era in 1930. This major renovation will advance in three stages and will involve extensive coordination between the Supreme, Family and Criminal Courts.

Queens

Lastly, the court is moving forward with its plan to replace its Queens summons courtroom with a modern facility that can accommodate the large number of defendants seen everyday. Queens is also slated for an extensive renovation of its lobby which, much like Manhattan's, will include better utilization of space, better traffic flow and information displays for the public.

Court News - 2005 Employees of the Year

Each year Criminal Court recognizes some of its outstanding personnel - employees from each borough and central administration who demonstrate extraordinary professionalism and dedication to the mission of the Court.

After receiving nominations from Court staff, a committee of employees with representatives from each borough and central administration proposed 5 employees and a special award for 2005 Employee of the Year. After consulting with the Supervising Judges, Administrative Judge Juanita Bing Newton announced the 5 winners - Anthony Corvino,

Faith O'Neal

Associate Court Attorney Faith O'Neal died suddenly on March 10, 2005. While the Criminal Court family was stunned by the loss of such a wonderful person, we also lost a great court attorney. "Faith was one of the shining stars of the citywide Law Department," said Chief Court Attorney Michael Yavinsky. "She was the consummate professional every single day."

Mike Yavinsky continued, "her work was always excellent, and she was highly regarded by the judges for whom she worked." She was also treasured by her colleagues in the law department who valued her insight and help.

"Faith truly demonstrated extraordinary dedication to the mission of the Criminal Court," added Mike Yavinsky, "we would be remiss if we did not also recognize and celebrate just how great an employee she was."

Anthony Corvino

"I love Criminal Court," Anthony Corvino says. "The people, the work ... It's all great." Tony has worked in the court system for 29 years starting off as a court officer in Brooklyn Criminal Court in 1977. After a brief stint in Supreme Court and Surrogates Court, Tony came back to Criminal Court as a senior court clerk, working in the cashier's office and in a part. He transferred to Richmond County in 1987.

According to Borough Chief Clerk Andy Hassell, "Tony has been doing the job so conscientiously for so long, he does the work of 3 different people. He is multifaceted and knows everything about the court system. And besides all that, he is a great guy."

Tony truly has his hands full. His current assignment includes the Staten Island back office and he is indispensable keeping the county's statistics and analysis.

Pa B. F. Drammeh

"The criminal justice system is very different in Africa than it is here," explained Pa Drammeh. "Here no one is above the law and I love working with people and guiding them through the American court process."

Pa has worked for Criminal Court interpreting 5 African languages since 1986. While Pa reports to the Manhattan courthouse everyday, his work takes him all over the city - wherever Wolof, Mandingo, Fulani, Soninke and Bambara are spoken.

Pa was born in Gambia and came to the United States in 1980 after working as a merchant marine and in his native country's Department of Agriculture.

"Pa is a mild mannered person, who never stops helping any way he can," explains Pa's supervisor, Carmen Porfido. "He is a great asset to the court."

senior court clerk, Richmond county; Pa Drammeh, court interpreter, New York county; Lt. Stephanie Hunter, Queens county; Monica loan, court analyst, central administration; and John Pucik, court assistant, Kings county. Judge Newton also announced that Associate Court Attorney Faith O’Neal would receive a Special Posthumous Recognition Award.

Each one of these individuals exemplifies the spirit and mission of NYC Criminal Court in providing justice to the city of New York while treating all court users with dignity and respect. They all go above and beyond the call of duty always taking the extra step to ensure that their work is done right. These 6 employees were honored at a ceremony in February and plaques commemorating their achievements were placed in the local courthouses.

Lt. Stephanie Hunter

“Conscientious, hard-working, intelligent, excellent,” are just a few of the words Captain John D’Amico uses to describe Lt. Stephanie Hunter. “I lean very heavily on Stephanie and she is well deserving of this award,” continues Captain D’Amico.

Lt. Hunter has worked in Queens Criminal Court for 14 years. Asked about her favorite part of the job, Lt Hunter responded, “It’s the craziness. I also love the multitasking and the sense of community. I was raised in Brooklyn in the 50s in that melting pot. Queens has become that now. I love the diversity.”

Lt. Hunter is the borough’s training officer. She believes what makes her good at her job is her ability to be a diplomat. “You should always try to diffuse volatile situations ... Never lose control and always have a good sense of humor.” She continues, “It’s much easier to be polite and accommodating rather than confrontational.”

Monica loan

Just one example of Court Analyst Monica loan’s extraordinary service to the Court is her role in automating the Supply Bureau’s ability to track inventory and purchasing data. Her supervisor, Pat Iannotto, was so impressed he christened the computer program she developed, MIMS or Monica Information Management System. Monica is more than just a computer wiz, though. She brings a level of civility, courteousness and professionalism to all of her interactions with court staff and the public.

Monica started working at Criminal Court barely 6 months after she arrived in the United States from Romania.

When asked what motivates her to work so hard, Monica replied, “I like what I am doing and who I am working with. I am happy that I can prove myself in this wonderful job and wonderful country. I am just trying to give back to America what it has given to me.”

John Pucik

“I always like people to leave my office in a better frame of mind than when they came in,” John Pucik explained how he interacts with the public and staff. A court employee since 1987, John has worked as a court assistant in Brooklyn Criminal Court since 1994. He works in a busy back office keeping a huge quantity of files in order and fielding questions from lawyers and the public.

“Before I came to the courts, I worked for the Traffic Violations Bureau and we had to deal with a lot of angry people there. I learned not to react to people’s anger and diffuse situations and help people solve their problems. That has helped me a lot in Criminal Court.”

His co-workers are quick to point out John’s professionalism and vast knowledge. He can be counted on to interact with the public in a courteous manner and all agree that he is a tremendous asset to Brooklyn Criminal Court.
