The (specify) count is Money Laundering in the (specify) Degree.

Under our law, a person is guilty of Money Laundering in the (specify) Degree when he or she conducts one or more financial transactions involving property represented to be the proceeds of the criminal sale of a controlled substance, or represented to be property used to conduct or facilitate the criminal sale of a controlled substance, with intent to promote the carrying on of specified criminal conduct; or conceal or disguise the nature, the location, the source, the ownership, or the control of property believed to be the proceeds of specified criminal conduct; or avoid any transaction reporting requirement imposed by law; and the total value of the property involved in such financial transaction or transactions exceeds (specify) thousand dollars.

Select appropriate alternative(s):

The following terms used in that definition have a special meaning:

CONDUCTS includes initiating, concluding, or participating in initiating or concluding a transaction.¹

TRANSACTION

includes a payment, purchase, sale, loan, pledge, gift, transfer, or delivery,

[and] with respect to a financial institution includes a deposit, withdrawal, transfer between accounts, exchange of currency, loan, extension of credit, purchase or sale of any stock, bond, certificate of deposit, or other monetary instrument, use of a safe deposit box, or any other payment, transfer, or delivery by, through, or to a financial institution, by whatever means effected, [except that "transaction" shall not include payments to attorneys for legal services].²

[Note: If the definition of "transaction" that is charged to jury includes a reference to "financial institution," it may be appropriate to add here the applicable portion of the definition of a "financial institution," set forth in Penal Law § 470.00(6).]

Financial transaction means a transaction involving:

(d) the use of a financial institution.³

[Note: If (b) [“one or more monetary instruments] is read to the jury, it may be appropriate here to add the applicable portion of the definition of “monetary instrument” in Penal Law § 470.00(1).

If (d) [the use of a financial institution] is read to the jury and “financial institution” has not been defined, it may be appropriate to add here the applicable portion of the definition of a “financial institution,” set forth in Penal Law § 470.00(6).]

Financial transactions may be considered together and the value of the property involved may be aggregated⁴, provided that the transactions are all part of a single “criminal transaction.”⁵

"Criminal transaction" means conduct which establishes at least one offense, and which is comprised of two or more or a group of acts either:

so closely related and connected in point of time and circumstance of commission as to constitute a single criminal incident, or so closely related in criminal purpose or objective as to constitute elements or integral parts of a single criminal venture.⁶
