VIRTUAL COURT RULES

Technology Requirements

1. For non-trial appearances parties are expected to be present virtually via audio and/or video (via Microsoft Teams). Parties may request to appear virtually via audio only if they do not have access to the technology necessary, are not capable of appearing by Microsoft Teams, or appearing by video would create a safety risk. Absent exceptional circumstances, all trials will be in-person. To the extent possible, within their capacity, and within the constraint of available resources, attorneys may assist in ensuring that their clients have the technical capability to be virtually present during court proceedings. In the event that a party does not have a computer or a smart device to access the Microsoft Teams platform, counsel should endeavor to provide access to a computer, webcam, smart device, or empty office space with appropriate equipment as a location for court presence, if within their capacity to do so.
2. All parties participating in Virtual Court should be familiar with Microsoft Teams and understand the platform well enough to participate effectively (including unmuting, muting, showing video, sharing documents (for attorneys), etc.). For virtual trials, attorneys are directed to practice using the Microsoft Teams platform with their clients and proposed witnesses prior to the trial to avoid technological delays and enable the greatest ease with which Virtual Court can proceed. (See Rule 1 for exceptions related to non-trial appearances.)

 - b. Download Teams at <https://www.microsoft.com/en-us/microsoft-365/microsoft-teams/download-app?SilentAuth=1&f=255&MSPPError=-2147217396>

General Etiquette

1. Parties, attorneys, and all members of court proceedings are expected to appear promptly and within ten minutes prior to the official start time of the court. To maximize efficiency and organization, all parties should avoid delays unless in emergency situations, in which they should do their best to communicate to the other parties and the court.
2. Parties appearing in Virtual Court should dress appropriately as if they were appearing in the actual courtroom.

3. Video or audio recording of Virtual Court is strictly prohibited.
4. Parties who are not testifying or responding to a question by counsel or the court are to make sure that their microphones are muted at all times.
5. Any party appearing in a virtual court must take reasonable steps to ensure that their child(ren) are not present in the room or within earshot when the proceeding takes place. Where this is not feasible, counsel for the affected party must notify the Court and all other counsel immediately. When such notice is received the Court will evaluate the situation and determine if the matter should proceed. In some situations, headphones or similar technology may make it possible to proceed when a child or children might need to be present. The Court will make this determination on a case-by-case basis.
6. Counsel/parties are to adhere to the same rules of civility and professionalism as if they were in an actual physical courtroom. Excessive arguing and/or interruptions will result in discrepancies and confusion within the record and testimony. In the event that counsel/parties fail to heed the courts admonishments in such cases, they are subject to be temporarily muted by the IDV clerk if instructed by the court.
7. Attorneys are expected to review the Virtual Court Rules with their clients prior to the virtual court session.

Virtual Testimony

1. If the court approves a request for a virtual hearing (see Trials Rule 1 above), parties/witnesses must appear individually. If other persons are in the room, they must be situated behind the party/witness and, if possible, within view of the camera angle visible to the court.
2. During testimony or proceeding, parties/witnesses are not permitted to speak to or receive notes or communication from any persons who are present in the room.
3. At the beginning of a witness' testimony, each witness shall swear or affirm (either as part of their affidavit or orally) that they are not receiving unauthorized coaching, influence, and/or manipulation via text, notes or speech from persons in the room or off-screen during court proceedings, or are recording their testimony in any audio or visual manner. A violation of this provision may result in the witness' testimony being stricken from the record. If the party is appearing over video, they should be prepared to provide the court with a virtual tour of the room and/or be willing to stand to show that they are not holding notes or any aids. This will be done to ensure that the aforementioned rules of integrity are followed. If a litigant or witness resides at a confidential address and/or giving a virtual tour may disclose their whereabouts or there is a safety concern, counsel for that individual shall conduct a virtual tour of the room from which they will be testifying contemporaneously to testimony in lieu of the litigant providing the court with said virtual tour. In this circumstance, counsel shall then affirm to the Court that no notes or aids were seen to be before the litigant and no other person appears in the room off-screen.

Conferences During Trial

1. In the event that a private conversation is requested by counsel with their client, the court will pause the proceeding and allow for the parties and counsel to mute Microsoft Teams and connect via phone or other means, off of the official record.
2. If a bench conference is requested, the IDV Clerk will utilize the available technology to enable that conversation to occur out of earshot of the parties.
