How to File a Request for Judicial Intervention

Note: All persons involved in a lawsuit should consult an attorney. This office gives you information, forms and instructions on court procedures. As an office of this court, we cannot give legal advice or act as your advocate.

Although a law suit begins upon filing with the County Clerk of a summons with notice, summons with notice of petition, or summons and complaint, or, in the case of a special proceeding, a petition, the matter has not yet entered the court system and is not known to the court or a Justice. This will happen when a party files a “Request for Judicial Intervention Form” (referred to as an RJI), pays the fee, and asks the court to take some action regarding the matter.

A special proceeding, because of its particular nature, will have to come into court promptly. However, a civil action brought on by summons and complaint or summons with notice can proceed for a considerable time, even for years, before judicial intervention becomes necessary and before the case is heard in the court. The initial documents containing allegations and responses in a civil action, the complaint and answer, set the framework of the dispute; some additional action is required to bring the dispute to a head, or to put the plaintiff to his or her proof before the court or a jury. In contrast with the practice in Federal and other courts, in New York cases are litigated between the parties until some dispute arises or the case otherwise requires action by a judge. Only then does the case come into court. The RJI is the method used to the assign a Justice to the case. This is done randomly. Once the case is assigned, all future proceedings in the case take place in front of the same Justice (unless the Justice leaves the court or is reassigned to a different category of case).

A point at which many cases first come before the court is upon the making of certain kinds of motions, such as a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment. (A motion is a form of application within a case for some form of relief. The kinds of motions available are set forth in the Civil Practice Law and Rules.) A case may also come into court if a party wishes a conference before a Justice for the purpose of setting dates for the completion of information exchange (called “discovery”). If the case does not come before the court for these reasons, the plaintiff may, at an appropriate time, cause the case to be placed on the trial calendar. Until the case is placed on the trial calendar, it can never be called for trial.

However. When a case first comes to court for judicial assignment, an RJI is required to be filed. Only one RJI is filed in a case.

A party wishing to file an RJI must have some purpose for which the intervention of a Justice is required. This is called the Nature of Judicial Intervention. The RJI is used for the court to have your case assigned to a Judge. The principal purposes are to obtain a conference, to make a motion, to bring on a special proceeding or to place the case on the trial calendar. Each of these objectives requires the filing of a paper or papers. Before the court can accept such filing, the applicant must present an RJI. The form must be completed and signed by the filing party.

A copy of the RJI and Addendum must be served upon all other parties to the case with the papers to which the RJI relates. The RJI must be paid for in the cashier’s office of the County Clerk. The cost for an RJI is $95. The County Clerk will issue a receipt for the RJI. This, together with an original and a copy of the RJI and Addendum, must be presented to the Civil Term Office of the Supreme Court at 26 Central Avenue in which the applicant’s papers are to be filed in room 131.
